NOTE TO HUERTAJohn Lind Then Quits
Mexico City.TENSE FEELING IN SOUTHERN CAPITALUnited States Demands That Newly Elected Congress Not Be Convened.

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—General Victoriano Huerta tacitly refused to accede to the demands of the United States, expressed in an ultimatum sent to him by President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind.

General Huerta was notified that unless he returned an answer to the effect that he would prevent the newly elected congress from convening and, furthermore make this action known to the members of the diplomatic corps by midnight, the United States would have no further parleying with the Mexican government.

Mr. Lind waited and received no answer. He then made arrangements for his departure on the train, leaving for Vera Cruz.

At Vera Cruz the personal effects of Mr. Lind were removed from the hotel where he has resided during his stay in Vera Cruz to the American consulate.

It was intimated at the palace that General Huerta had not received the note in time to give it full consideration. This, however, did not appear to Mr. Lind a valid excuse for procrastination.

The prevention of the convening of congress has been one essential point in the negotiations conducted by Mr. Lind; this for two reasons, first, it will be that the new congress would lose no time in passing measures having to do with the oil concessions; and, second, because the convening of congress would give an air of legality to Huerta's government.

Look for Decisive Move.

Not since the recent revolutions began has the feeling in the Mexican capital been so tense. Categorical denials by Charge O'Shaughnessy and Mr. Lind of knowledge of any developments on which this feeling could be based failed to disabuse the minds of the people of the belief that the next twenty-four hours would see some decisive move on the part of Washington.

The reports spread until there was scarcely a foreign resident in the capital who had not heard that the American charge had been given, or was about to be given his passports.

A large part of the population confidently expected to see the whole embassy staff depart on the train for Vera Cruz.

All sorts of rumors were current. Many persons who were contemplating leaving the country in the near future made hurried preparations and caught the train to Vera Cruz, preferring to wait there until they can procure steamer accommodations to remain in the capital.

Mr. Lind was said to have received messages from Vera Cruz urging him to return at once for fear the railroad would be cut.

The uneasiness was accentuated through the receipt by several persons of messages from relatives and friends in the United States, urging their immediate departure from Mexico.

REBELS HOLD UP TRAINS
Secure Large Amount of Currency and Bullion.

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—The rebels began a campaign directed against traffic between the capital and Vera Cruz. The first efforts were successful, for they seized silver bullion and currency estimated at a value of nearly 1,000,000 pesos.

A train was held up on the Inter-Oceanic railway about 100 miles from Mexico City.

From the express car the rebels took a large quantity of silver and currency which had been shipped by the government and a big silver bullion consignment by the Rear Del Monte company.

Senators Reed and O'Gorman Fall in Line With Owen, Pomerene, Shafministration Measure and Report

May Be Made Within a Week.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The attempt to force the administration currency bill through the senate by way of the Democratic caucus was abandoned and the banking and currency committee of the senate was given time for further consideration of the bill.

A practical agreement by six Democratic senators, half of the committee, and hope for a final report within five or six days, was reported to the Democratic conference when it met by Senator Owen. At his request the conference took no action.

Since the call for the conference was issued Senators Reed and O'Gorman have joined Chairman Owen and Senators Pomerene, Shafroth and Hollis in support of the administration measure despite their votes against some of its provisions in the committee.

These six Democrats have virtually agreed on a bill which meets the views of President Wilson. This measure will be taken up by the senate as soon as possible.

Hitchcock Remains Obdurate.

A further attempt to swing Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska in line with his Democratic colleagues was made in a meeting of Democrats of the committee after the conference, but Senator Hitchcock insisted that he could not reconcile his views with the demands of the president.

The full committee, Democrats and Republicans, will meet and another attempt will be made to procure an agreement among a majority.

If this fails it is probable that the Democrats and Republicans will make a unanimous report on those details of the bill which all approve and then submit supplementary reports showing the senate their disagreement on the fundamentals of the bill.

The Republicans and Senator Hitchcock have announced their determination to stand out to the last for the public ownership of the regional banks in the new system and for government control of those banks.

CALLS BANKERS INSINCERE

Samuel W. Untermyer Favors Pending
Currency Bill.

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—Samuel W. Untermyer of New York, who was counsel for the congressional committee which investigated the so-called "money trust," accused the American Bankers' association of insincerity in its opposition to the administration currency bill in an address before the City club here.

He characterized the measure as "the initial step in a program of legislation that is intended to bring about the new freedom of opportunity by relaxing the stranglehold of the 'money trust' upon the vitals of our industrial and financial life." That release is in itself worth a thousand-fold all the temporary uncertainty it may cause, he asserted.

TYPHOON SWEEPS
ISLAND OF GUAM.

Washington, Nov. 13.—First news of a great typhoon, which swept the island of Guam and threw the collier Ajax ashore, came to the navy department in a report from Lieutenant Commander Alfred W. Hinds, governor of the island. One American hospital steward, George W. Nicholson, was drowned.

The storm demolished native houses and destroyed roads.

WILSON TO MEET
MEXICAN CRISIS

by Brown Bros.

WILLIAM B. HALE.

Wilson's Envoy Makes Secret
Proposal to Mexican Rebels.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Nov. 13.—Crossing a little street from the United States into Mexico William Bayard Hale, personal representative of President Wilson, met the Constitutional chief, General Venustiano Carranza, and his cabinet, and presented to them a definite proposal from the American government.

What that proposal was the American diplomat declined to say. The Mexican revolutionary leaders also were silent.

All that could be learned regarding the proposal of President Wilson was that it was in writing and that it required certain things, including pledges, from the Constitutionalists, in case the United States lifted the embargo on the exportation of arms.

ATTITUDE TOWARD MEXICO

Bryan Promises Statement in a Few Days.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Bryan announced that a statement would be issued within a few days setting forth the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

Whether the statement will be in the form of a communication to congress by President Wilson has not been disclosed, but some of the diplomats here believe it will be.

The statement has been under consideration for several days. It will define clearly the attitude of the United States.

Such a statement, it is thought, not only would reiterate the views that the United States can never recognize a government established by arbitrary force, but will give its reasons for refusing to recognize any acts of the new congress either as to the validity of loans or concessions, and point out the steps necessary to a solution of the problem.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 13.—Official telegrams report a continuance of the earthquake in the province of Ayacucho, in the department of Apurimac.

The city of Chalhuanca, the capital of the province, is reported to be in ruins.

A private telegram says that the deaths number more than 200.

Apurimac is a southwestern department of Peru, with a population of nearly 200,000.

It is composed of the provinces of Abancay, Ayacucho, Anta and Costabamba and a portion of Ayacucho.

ECHOES OF THE TARIFF BILL

Why Resolution Ceding Part of Alaska to Canada Was Introduced in House—Autumn Weather Keeps Many Senators at Their Posts, While House Members Mend Their Fences.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Having reached a point where it seems impossible to persuade those in authority in Mexico to withdraw themselves from affairs and let others secure peace, it is quite likely that this government will take a decided step. Hands off will still be the policy, but it will be more hands off than before, for it may be decided to lift the embargo against the shipment of arms into Mexico, and the lid may be raised far enough so that adventurous Americans can join the revolutionists and help to drive Huerta from power.

That program is said to be the only possible way of doing anything effective unless the stronger method of actual intervention should be adopted. At all events, it is said by those close to the administration that Mexican affairs are not to be allowed to drift along with simply an exchange of notes between the two governments.

Putting It Up to Henry.

Chairman Henry of the rules committee has a problem before him. The woman suffragists will soon be down upon him with a demand that he report a rule for a woman suffrage committee in the house to consider woman suffrage measures. The women opposed to suffrage will make just as strong a demand that the suffrage measures be left where they have always been—with the judiciary committee. It is understood that the committee on rules is evenly divided on the question. Henry having the deciding vote.

At a hearing which is to be held some time in December the whole subject of woman suffrage will be thrashed out by the women for and the women against the ballot. There will be a sharp fight in the house if Henry should decide in favor of a new committee on suffrage.

It Was "By Request."

It was with surprise that people noticed a resolution offered in the house providing for the cession of a portion of southern Alaska to Great Britain in order to make it easier for Canada to obtain access to the sea. As few people ever supposed the United States would cede any territory once in its possession, the proposition of Congressman Smith of Maryland caused considerable wonder.

It was explained, however, when it was known that the resolution was "by request," which meant that it was introduced for accommodation and not for action. The request came from the Universal Peace union, which thought that it would be a fitting way to celebrate the hundred years' peace between the United States and Great Britain.

Tariff Still With Us.

We can't get away from the tariff in congress, although the Underwood bill has been in operation for several weeks. Minority Leader Mann is submitting resolutions of inquiry asking the secretary of the treasury to send to the house interpretations placed upon certain features of the law. Mann wants to know how the 5 per cent discrimination in favor of American ships is to be construed; also how three different provisions relating to the duty on game birds, the free importation of land and water fowls and the prohibition of certain feathers is going to be construed. While Mann may be really anxious for the information, we rather suspect that he wants to continue in the role of "devil" the party in power.

November Is Pleasant.

Senators are returning to Washington. There are more senators in their chamber whenever that body meets than there are representatives in the house until after the roll is called. November is a pleasant month in Washington—in fact, better than almost any other time of year. That may account for the return of the senators. The members of the house are still absent, which means that they are looking after their political interests.

California Interests.

A Nevada senator takes up the reins and fights for the California Hetch Hetchy water project. Another Nevada senator is quite extensively interested in California. It reminds one of the days when they used to say that California had four senators, as they always counted Jones and Stewart for anything that California wanted. And it was natural, as both had been Californians before they went to Nevada.

Record "Fillers."

It would appear that members of the house have actually become ashamed of the "thinness" of the Congressional Record, for they are dragging in speeches and addresses made outside in order to pad its lean pages. Members of congress who have been making speeches about the country are getting them printed in the Record. It is a real embarrassing process.

CONDEMNS COPPER
MINING COMPANIESSecretary Wilson Addresses Federation of Labor.

Seattle, Nov. 13.—Secretary of Labor Wilson, addressing the American Federation of Labor, bitterly condemned the attitude of the Michigan copper mining companies and warned them that a new conception of titles to property was in progress of formation.

He declared he would make public not only the wages paid to the miners, the hours they worked and the labor conditions, but the enormous profits of the mine owners.

Mr. Wilson, who addressed the delegates as "fellow unionists," said:

"The department of labor, as now organized and directed, will be utilized to co-operate with the great trade union movement in its efforts to elevate the standard of human society."

Of the situation at Calumet the secretary said it had heretofore been the custom to investigate wages, hours and conditions of labor and report. This time, he said, it has been determined to go a step farther and investigate the earnings of the corporations involved.

Mr. Wilson condemned the sending of strikebreakers by private employment agencies.

TO CONCENTRATE MARINES

Secretary Daniels Would Have Only
Three Bases.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Daniels announced that he favored concentrating all marines except those on duty aboard ship at three important bases in the United States with a fourth base in the Panama canal zone.

The secretary said he thought one base should be on the Pacific coast with the other two probably at Pensacola, Fla., and Philadelphia.

The plan would leave at the navy yards and other stations only sufficient marines to perform routine duties.

Mrs. Martha Simmons Takes Poison
When Despondent.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Nov. 13.—Martha Simmons, with $1,000,000 in her own right, widow of Dr. C. S. Simmons, formerly a manufacturer of medicine in St. Louis, committed suicide here. The greatest secrecy surrounded Mrs. Simmons' death.

Mrs. Simmons took a slow poison to end her life. To a Kansas City physician, to whom she was engaged to be married up to last week, Mrs. Simmons declared unceasing gossip linking her name and that of Dr. Simmons before their marriage had made her despondent. This is supposed to have caused her act.

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—The storm Sunday afternoon tore loose a barge which was tied up to a dock in Sandusky bay and half of the cargo of sixteen tons of dynamite was washed overboard and is floating around in the harbor.

Captains of boats in port are afraid to leave their ships for fear of running into the dynamite.

+ + + + +

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Reports from ports on the Great Lakes in which survivors and vessels which escaped the three-day storm have taken refuge have not raised previous estimates of the death list of sixty and a financial loss of $2,000,000.

The seas are rolling at a height that make investigation of wrecked boats dangerous and many mysteries of the storm remain unsolved.

A report from Port Frank, Ont., that eight more frozen bodies were washed ashore in a lifeboat could not be confirmed. Wires are down to the Canadian shore.

Attempts to identify the derelict freighter, which lies bottomside up in stormy Lake Huron, failed. Many are convinced that the boat is the Canadian Pacific freighter Regina. The Regina's beam is forty-three feet. Captain Plough of Port Huron measured the overturned boat and said her beam was slightly more than forty-two feet.

The wreckage from the Regina washed ashore included a lifeboat which contained two bodies of sailors positively identified as members of the crew of the Regina, indicating that the freighter was wrecked in the vicinity where the overturned vessel was found.

Little credence is given to the report from Goodrich, Ont., that the seven bodies found on the shore of Lake Huron below Grand Bend, were sailors on the steamer Charles S. Price, reported lost.

The Price may have sunk, marine men admit, but it is believed the bodies were of members of the crew of the Regina.

Laferty is believed to have kindled the kitchen fire and returned to bed. Whether the chimney was defective or the stove became overheated, igniting the home, is not known.

Schmidt Trial Next Week.

New York, Nov. 13.—The trial of Hans Schmidt, former priest, for the murder of Anna Amuller, parts of whose dismembered body were found in the Hudson river, was set for Nov. 19.

WILLIAM B. HALE.

Wilson's Envoy Makes Secret
Proposal to Mexican Rebels.

By Brown Bros.

CONTENTS ARE KEPT SECRET

William Bayard Hale Makes Proposal to Rebels.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Nov. 13.—Crossing a little street from the United States into Mexico William Bayard Hale, personal representative of President Wilson, met the Constitutionalist chief, General Venustiano Carranza, and his cabinet, and presented to them a definite proposal from the American government.

What that proposal was the American diplomat declined to say. The Mexican revolutionary leaders also were silent.

All that could be learned regarding the proposal of President Wilson was that it was in writing and that it required certain things, including pledges, from the Constitutionalist, in case the United States lifted the embargo on the exportation of arms.

ATTITUDE TOWARD MEXICO

Bryan Promises Statement in a Few Days.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Bryan announced that a statement would be issued within a few days setting forth the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

Whether the statement will be in the form of a communication to congress by President Wilson has not been disclosed, but some of the diplomats here believe it will be.

The statement has been under consideration for several days. It will define clearly the attitude of the United States.

Such a statement, it is thought, not only would reiterate the views that the United States can never recognize a government established by arbitrary force, but will give its reasons for refusing to recognize any acts of the new congress either as to the validity of loans or concessions, and point out the steps necessary to a solution of the problem.

OVER TWO HUNDRED
KILLED IN QUAKEEarth Shocks Still Continue in Peruvian Province.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 13.—Official telegrams report a continuance of the earthquake in the province of Ayumayo, in the department of Apurimac.

The city of Chalhuanca, the capital of the province, is reported to be in ruins.

A private telegram says that the deaths number more than 200. Apurimac is a southwestern department of Peru, with a population of nearly 200,000.

It is composed of the provinces of Abancay, Aymaraes, Anta and Costabambas and a portion of Ayacucho.

MAIL STRIKERS ARRESTED

New York Chauffeurs Held on Federal Warrants.

New York, Nov. 13.—The recent strike of chauffeurs employed on mail trucks here and the resulting brief tie-up of service resulted in the arrest of the president of the Chauffeurs' union, a former president and five other officers and members.

All were charged with conspiracy to obstruct and retard the operation and movement of the mails, an offense punishable with a maximum prison term of two years and $10,000 fine.

BURNED WITH HOT POKER

Victim Then Discloses Hiding Place of Money.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Nov. 13.—Three masked men broke into the residence of Philip Stakety at West Bridge-water and, binding him to a chair, seared his feet with a hot poker until he disclosed the hiding place of his money. They found $27.15 and after taking it beat him into insensibility. The men were captured.

WILSON TO MEET
MEXICAN CRISISWill the Present Policy Be Continued?

ECHOES OF THE TARIFF BILL

Why Resolution Ceding Part of Alaska to Canada Was Introduced in House—Autumn Weather Keeps Many Senators at Their Posts, While House Members Mend Their Fences.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Having reached a point where it seems impossible to persuade those in authority in Mexico to withdraw themselves from affairs and let others secure peace, it is quite likely that this government will take a decided step. Hands off will still be the policy, but it will be more hands off than before, for it may be decided to lift the embargo against the shipment of arms into Mexico, and the lid may be raised far enough so that adventurous Americans can join the revolutionists and help to drive Huerta from power.

That program is said to be the only possible way of doing anything effective unless the stronger method of actual intervention should be adopted. At all events, it is said by those close to the administration that Mexican affairs are not to be allowed to drift along with simply an exchange of notes between the two governments.

Putting It Up to Henry.

Chairman Henry of the rules committee has a problem before him. The woman suffragists will soon be down upon him with a demand that he report a rule for a woman suffrage committee in the house to consider woman suffrage measures. The women opposed to suffrage will make just as strong a demand that the suffrage measures be left where they have always been—with the judiciary committee. It is understood that the committee on rules is evenly divided on the question. Henry having the deciding vote.

At a hearing which is to be held some time in December the whole subject of woman suffrage will be thrashed out by the women for and the women against the ballot. There will be a sharp fight in the house if Henry should decide in favor of a new committee on suffrage.

It Was "By Request."

It was with surprise that people noticed a resolution offered in the house providing for the cession of a portion of southern Alaska to Great Britain in order to make it easier for Canada to obtain access to the sea. As few people ever supposed the United States would cede any territory once in its possession, the proposition of Congressman Smith of Maryland caused considerable wonder.

It was explained, however, when it was known that the resolution was "by request," which meant that it was introduced for accommodation and not for action. The request came from the Universal Peace union, which thought that it would be a fitting way to celebrate the hundred years' peace between the United States and Great Britain.

Tariff Still With Us.

We can't get away from the tariff in congress, although the Underwood bill has been in operation for several weeks. Minority Leader Mann is submitting resolutions of inquiry asking the secretary of the treasury to send to the house interpretations placed upon certain features of the law. Mann wants to know how the 5 per cent discrimination in favor of American ships is to be construed; also how three different provisions relating to the duty on game birds, the free importation of land and water fowls and the prohibition of certain feathers is going to be construed. While Mann may be really anxious for the information, we rather suspect that he wants to continue in the role of "devil" the party in power.

November Is Pleasant.

Senators are returning to Washington. There are more senators in their chamber whenever that body meets than there are representatives in the house until after the roll is called. November is a pleasant month in Washington—in fact, better than almost any other time of year. That may account for the return of the senators. The members of the house are still absent, which means that they are looking after their political interests.

California Interests.

A Nevada senator takes up the reins and fights for the California Hetch Hetchy water project. Another Nevada senator is quite extensively interested in California. It reminds one of the days when they used to say that California had four senators, as they always counted Jones and Stewart for anything that California wanted. And it was natural, as both had been Californians before they went to Nevada.

Record "Fillers."

It would appear that members of the house have actually become ashamed of the "thinness" of the Congressional Record, for they are dragging in speeches and addresses made outside in order to pad its lean pages. Members of congress who have been making speeches about the country are getting their printed in the Record. It is a real embalming process.

Washington, Nov. 13.—A silver service will be the wedding gift from senators to Miss Jessie Wilson, according to an announcement by Senator Martine, who is receiving voluntary subscriptions from his colleagues.

CONDEMNS COPPER
MINING COMPANIESSecretary Wilson Addresses Federation of Labor.

Seattle, Nov. 13.—Secretary of Labor Wilson, addressing the American Federation of Labor, bitterly condemned the attitude of the Michigan copper mining companies and warned them that a new conception of titles to property was in progress of formation.

He declared he would make public not only the wages paid to the miners, the hours they worked and the labor conditions, but the enormous profits of the mine owners.

Mr. Wilson, who addressed the delegates as "fellow unionists," said: "The department of labor, as now organized and directed, will be utilized to co-operate with the great trade union movement in its efforts to elevate the standard of human society."

Of the situation at Calumet the secretary said it had heretofore been the custom to investigate wages, hours and conditions of labor and report. This time, he said, it has been determined to go a step farther and investigate the earnings of the corporations involved.

Mr. Wilson condemned the sending of strikebreakers by private employment agencies.

TO CONCENTRATE MARINES

Secretary Daniels Would Have Only
Three Bases.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Daniels announced that he favored concentrating all marines except those on duty aboard ship at three important bases in the United States with a fourth base in the Panama canal zone.

The secretary said he thought one base should be on the Pacific coast with the other two probably at Pensacola, Fla., and Philadelphia.

The plan would leave at the navy yards and other stations only sufficient marines to perform routine duties.

GOSSIP BLAMED FOR DEATH

Mrs. Martha Simmons Takes Poison
When Despondent.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Nov. 13.—Martha Simmons, with $1,000,000 in her own right, widow of Dr. C. S. Simmons, formerly a manufacturer of medicine in St. Louis, committed suicide here. The greatest secrecy surrounded Mrs. Simmons' death.

Mrs. Simmons took a slow poison to end her life. To a Kansas City physician, to whom she was engaged to be married up to last week, Mrs. Simmons declared unceasing gossip linking her name and that of Dr. Simmons before their marriage had made her despondent. This is supposed to have caused her act.

COTTON OIL TRUST CHARGED

Suit Alleges American Is Subsidiary of Standard Oil Company.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 13.—Practically every cottonseed oil mill company in Mississippi is made a defendant in an anti-trust suit filed by State Attorney General Ross Collins.

The suit charges that the American Cotton Oil company is practically owned by the Standard Oil company and that it controls 90 per cent of the oil business of Mississippi and seeks to oust from the state the corporations named in the suit.

DONAHOE IS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Conspiracy to Defame
Good Name of C. S. Funk.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Attorney Daniel Donahoe, charged with conspiring to defame Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester company, was found guilty and fined $2,000.

Detective Isaac Stiefel, tried on the same charge of conspiracy, was found not guilty.

Donahoe and Stiefel were indicted, charged with conspiracy to defame, after a suit charging Mr. Funk with having alienated the affections of Mrs. John C. Henning had been dismissed.

ROOSEVELT BANQUET GUEST

Former President Honored at Buenos Ayres Dinner.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 13.—Colonel Roosevelt was the guest of honor at a great banquet at the Colon theater at which covers were laid for more than a thousand.

In the afternoon he saw a review of troops at Capo Mayo.

He also was present at the Military club on the occasion of the presentation of a statue of General Sheridan.

GOULD QUILTS CAR COMPANY

Retires as President of Manhattan Railway.

New York, Nov. 13.—George J. Gould, for twenty years president of the Manhattan Railway company, which operates New York's elevated system, retired in favor of Edgar T. Marston.

Mr. Gould continues, however, as a director and one of the chief stockholders. His successor represents the holdings in the company of the General Education board, founded by John D. Rockefeller.

TEXTILE UNIONS
SEEKING INCREASE.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 13.—

Union labor action looking toward a demand for a general increase in wages for the 22,000 operatives in the 100 cotton mills of this city was taken here.

Four of the five textile unions voted to ask the textile council for endorsement of the demands.

BOAT CAPSIZES IN CANAL

Seven Men Drowned and Two Others
Missing.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Seven men are dead and two others are missing of fifteen construction laborers who were thrown into the water when a flat-bottomed boat capsized in the Lachine canal at Core St. Paul.

Boats rescued four of the men and two others reached shore safely. Two men swam toward the north shore and have not been heard from.

Death List in Great Lakes Gale Remains About Sixty.

SEAS STILL RUNNING HIGH

Large Waves Make Investigation of Wrecked Boats Dangerous and Many Mysteries of the Terrific Storm Still Remain Unsolved—Conditions Are Fast Becoming Normal at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—The storm Sunday afternoon tore loose a barge which was tied up to a dock in Sandusky bay and half of the cargo of sixteen tons of dynamite was washed overboard and is floating around in the harbor.

Captains of boats in port are afraid to leave their ships for fear of running into the dynamite.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Reports from ports on the Great Lakes in which survivors and vessels which escaped the three-day storm have taken refuge have not raised previous estimates of the death list of sixty and a financial loss of $2,000,000.

The seas are rolling at a height that make investigation of wrecked boats dangerous and many mysteries of the storm remain unsolved.

A report from Port Frank, Ont., that eight more frozen bodies were washed ashore in a lifeboat could not be confirmed. Wires are down to the Canadian shore.

Attempts to identify the derelict freighter, which lies bottomside up in stormy Lake Huron, failed. Many are convinced that the boat is the Canadian Pacific freighter Regina. The Regina's beam is forty-three feet, Captain Plough of Port Huron measured the overturned boat and said her beam was slightly more than forty-two feet.

The wreckage from the Regina washed ashore included a lifeboat which contained two bodies of sailors positively identified as members of the crew of the Regina, indicating that the freighter was wrecked in the vicinity where the overturned vessel was found.

Little credence is given to the report from Goodrich, Ont., that the seven bodies found on the shore of Lake Huron below Grand Bend, were sailors on the steamer Charles S. Price, reported lost.

The Price may have sunk, marine men admit, but it is believed the bodies were of members of the crew of the Regina.

Cleveland Rapidly Recovering From Effects of Storm.

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—With the work of restoring normal conditions rapidly progressing and deliveries of food and coal supplies Clevelanders experienced only the inconveniences resulting from the heavy snowfall.

Almost all the street cars are running and an attempt will be made to open the schools.

FARMER'S VIEW OF CANAL

Thinks Money Should Have Been Spent on Highways.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 13.—Labor and money spent on the Panama canal might have been used to better purpose on the highways of this country, Oliver Wilson of Illinois, told delegates to the national convention of the patrons of husbandry in his annual report.

"The building of the Panama canal is a national project of which Americans are proud, yet the same amount of labor and money spent on our highways at home would create benefits nearer and probably more important to our own people," he said.

ASK M'REYNOLDS TO ACT

May Interfere to Prevent Whipping of Delaware Convicts.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Attorney General McReynolds was asked by Representative Evans of Montana to interfere with the whipping of six Delaware convicts, set for Saturday. Representative Evans declared that although he had introduced a resolution in the house designed to prevent the punishment because it is "cruel and unusual" and prohibited by the Constitution, he did not believe congress could act before Saturday.

Who Was the Skeptic?

A blind man of Indianapolis who is noted for the acuteness of his other senses was interrogated by a skeptic.
"I am told that you can actually tell the color of a thing by feeling it. Is that so?"

The blind man, who relishes a joke, admitted that it was. "Have you a printed card in your pocket?" he asked.

The card was produced, and after feeling it gravely and carefully the blind man said, "The card has been read," the loophole for his escape being in the word "read." By chance the card was an old one, once read, that had been faded by exposure to sunlight.

The skeptic went away marveling and convinced.—Indianapolis News.

Marooned Eskimos Rescued.

Canada, have just received meager reports from the north that a party of Eskimos numbering, it is said, ten persons were rescued from an island in the mouth of Hudson bay, upon which they had been marooned for a period of ten years.

IT'S A BIGBARGAIN*MUSIC AND DRAMA*"The Typhoon"

Never has a better play than "The Typhoon" been seen in Brainerd in the last two years or more. Walker Whiteside well sustained his great reputation as one of the most remarkable character delineators on the American stage today.

"The Typhoon" is a wonderful play. Every situation is tense with emotion and like a typhoon it sweeps mercilessly, unresistingly to the end.
One glimpses the fatalism of the Orient, the Japanese love of country which overshadows life, family ties, everything and believes in the extinction of the individual if necessary, to advance the cause of Nippon.

The first act with its rich Japanese setting provoked spontaneous applause. In the lighting effects, a wonderful glow was spread over the scenes.

Walker Whiteside, as Tokaramo, dominated the play. Miss Florence Fisher, as Ilona, was radiant in gowns which revealed her sylph-like
perament, her adoration and then her domineering tactics, her wiles and her subtleties, culminating in the denunciation of Japan and of Tokaramo—stamped her as an emotional actress of great power.

And when Tokaramo strangles her and tells his story to his compatriots, it is not with regret of the deed that he first speaks, it is this he says: "I lost my self-control."

If Whiteside has truly divined the Japanese character it shows that beneath the brown skin and impassive exterior there dwell passions, hatred and love, as deeply implanted as those of the Caucasian. The only difference lies in the self-control. One masks his face and the other reveals his thoughts.

One may draw a dozen morals from the play, ranging from the yellow peril to a dissertation on morals as exemplified by Ilona and Lindner, and the code of morals which Tokaramo personified.

"The Typhoon" is a play which sticks in one's memory long after Walker Whiteside has left Brainerd.

ing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—Advt.

He Got His Tip.

An old fisherman used to bring him a splendid salmon the first of every month, and he always gave the fisherman a tip. One morning he was very busy, and when the old man brought the fish he thanked him hurriedly and forgetting his tip, bent over the desk again. The old man hesitated a moment, then cleared his throat and said,
"Sir, would ye be so kind as to put it in writin' that ye didn't give me no tip this time, or my wife 'll think I've went and spent it on rum."

Doesn't Work Both Ways.

"I told him he resembled his wife, and he seemed very much flattered."
"Gee! I told his wife she resembled him, and she won't speak to me!"—

Counting a Herring Catch.

The fact that the record catch of herrings was 320 crans, is proof positive that they were captured on the east coast of Scotland. On the west of Scotland herrings are counted, not measured. A "maze" of herrings is five long hundreds, and a long hundred is 123. At Yarmouth and Grimsby they are counted by the "warp," which is four, and thirty-three of these make a long hundred. Ten hundreds make a "thousand" and ten "thousand" a "last." Therefore, when is a hundred not a hundred?—London Standard.

Please For Patriotism.

"You should be patriotic and contribute your valuable services to your country without thought of pecuniary reward."

"I will," replied the official, "just as soon as a whole lot of people get patriotic enough to quit sending their bills to me."—Washington Star.

Mutual Concessions.

"Bliggins and his wife seem to be on the best of terms."

"Yes. They make mutual concessions. He stands on the corner and shouts 'Votes for women,' while she cheers every time the home team scores a run."—Washington Star.

Red Tape.

One of his majesty's ships collided with another while clearing out of the Portsmouth docks and had her bowsprit carried away. The captain promptly notified the disaster to the admiralty in a dispatch as follows:
"My lords, I regret to have to inform your lordships that H. M. S. — while leaving the harbor came into collision with another vessel, and her bowsprit has been carried away."

"Awaiting instructions from your lordships, I have the honor to remain," etc.
Promptly came an admiralty wire in reply, "Report who carried away bowsprit and where it has been placed."—

Navy Department Decides Against Use of Substitute For Butter.

The jolly Jack tars of the United States will not be required to eat oleomargarine instead of butter. This decision has just been reached by the navy department. The naval ration law stipulates that the ration shall include two ounces of butter, and it has been decided that the statute places a limit on the authority of the purchasing officers and that they cannot acquire a substitute for butter.

Tests of oleomargarine and butter convinced the paymaster general and other officers of the navy that oleo would be suitable for the naval service, and they reported that it would answer the purpose required of it. An examination of the law was afterward made, however, and the decision reached that a substitute for butter cannot be doled out to men in the naval establishment.

Who Was the Skeptic?
A blind man of Indianapolis who is noted for the acuteness of his other senses was interrogated by a skeptic. "I am told that you can actually tell the color of a thing by feeling it. Is that so?"

The blind man, who relishes a joke, admitted that it was. "Have you a printed card in your pocket?" he asked. The card was produced, and after feeling it gravely and carefully the blind man said, "The card has been read." The loophole for his escape being in the word "read." By chance the card was an old one, once read, that had been faded by exposure to sunlight.

The skeptic went away marveling and convinced.—Indianapolis News.

IT'S A BIG BARGAIN

MUSIC AND DRAMA"The Typhoon"

Never has a better play than "The Typhoon" been seen in Brainerd in the last two years or more. Walker Whiteside well sustained his great reputation as one of the most remarkable character delineators on the American stage today.

"The Typhoon" is a wonderful play. Every situation is tense with emotion and like a typhoon it sweeps mercilessly, unresistingly to the end. One glimpses the fatalism of the Orient, the Japanese love of country which overshadows life, family ties, everything and believes in the extinction of the individual if necessary, to advance the cause of Nippon.

The first act with its rich Japanese setting provoked spontaneous applause. In the lighting effects, a wonderful glow was spread over the scenes.

Walker Whiteside, as Tokaramo, dominated the play. Miss Florence Fisher, as Ilona, was radiant in gowns which revealed her sylph-like figure. Her shifting, mercurial temperament, her adoration and then her domineering tactics, her wiles and her subtleties, culminating in the denunciation of Japan and of Tokaramo—stamped her as an emotional actress of great power.

And when Tokaramo strangles her and tells his story to his compatriots, it is not with regret of the deed that he first speaks, it is this he says: "I lost my self-control."

If Whiteside has truly divined the Japanese character it shows that beneath the brown skin and impassive exterior there dwell passions, hatred and love, as deeply implanted as those of the Caucasian. The only difference lies in the self-control. One masks his face and the other reveals his thoughts.

One may draw a dozen morals from the play, ranging from the yellow peril to a dissertation on morals as exemplified by Ilona and Lindner, and the code of morals which Tokaramo personified.

"The Typhoon" is a play which sticks in one's memory long after Walker Whiteside has left Brainerd.

A COLD—NO QUININE

"Pape's Cold Compound" Makes You Feel Fine at Once—Don't Stay Stuffed-up! Take it Now

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—Adv.

THE RESPONSE WAS GENEROUS

Committees Engaged in Collecting Clothing, Shoes, Etc., Were Busy Wednesday

BASEMENT FILLED COMPLETELY

Messrs Nelson, Peterson, Peacock and Lagerquist Worked Late at Night Sorting Goods

There was collected yesterday enough clothing, shoes and other articles to fill the basement below the D. A. Peterson store.

In the basement formerly occupied by a shoemaker, the committee, Wm. Nelson, treasurer and former president of the Booster Club, Alderman D. A. Peterson, City Engineer C. D. Peacock and President of the City Council C. A. Lagerquist worked until near the midnight hour assorting the varied collections and today one sees in the room orderly piles of blankets, coats for men, for women, for children, hats and caps, children's and women's dresses, waists, underwear of all kinds, baby clothes, shoes of all kinds, men's overcoats, vests, pants, etc.

On Wednesday C. D. Peacock in his automobile, C. A. Lagerquist with his car and D. A. Peterson, who furnished a man and delivery wagon, collected the donations. In addition 18 telephone calls were received and Mr. Peterson will send a man today to collect at these points. Any others who were missed by the committee in its collection tour may bring donations to the Peterson store.

In the future any applicants for relief may go to the Bachelor Maids, the Boosters club, the city council or the schools. The proper committee of each association is:

City council—Aldermen J. R. Smith, D. A. Peterson and George Hess.

Bachelor Maids—Miss Carrie Morrison, Mrs. H. G. Ingersoll.

Booster club—George J. Vogel, C. D. Peacock and J. L. Hartell.

Schools—Prof. W. C. Cobb or any principal.

Credit is due Prof. Cobb, for he worked hard in stirring up interest in the matter and the school children also contributed liberally.

LOERCH ITEMS

The dance at Dalton's was well attended by many friends who all reported a good time.

Mildred Miller, of Wiseville, is visiting in Loerch this week.

They say deer hunting is pretty good around Loerch, but remember boys, that "deer" and "deer" cannot be captured on one license.

Don't forget the shadow social at school district No. 5 Saturday night. Everybody come and enjoy yourself. Coffee will be served with your lunch. Who won the candy Tuesday night? We did! Who ate it? The "candy kids", of course.

Those who went to Wright, Minn., for deer hunting last Saturday were Messrs. Tom, Oscar and John Dullum, Frank and Ralph Miller, Andrew Peterson, Oscar Parson and Ted Eamer.

Melvin Dullum left Tuesday for Duluth where he will stay for the winter.

Floyd Miller is working for his brother, Frank Miller, this week.

A Consumptive Cough

A cough that bothers you continually is one of the danger signals which warns of consumption. Dr. King's New Discovery will stop cough, loosen the chest, banish fever and let you sleep peacefully. The first dose checks the symptoms and gives prompt relief. Mrs. A. F. Mertz, of Glen Ellyn, Iowa, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery cured a stubborn cough after six weeks' doctoring failed to help." Try it, as it will do the same for you. Best medicine for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Money back if it fails. Price 50c and $1.00. All druggists, by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.—Adv. tts

AMERICAN EMBASSY IS IN SUSPENSE

Special to The Dispatch:

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—The official notification was published here today ordering those Mexican senators and deputies who were elected on Oct. 26 to assemble Saturday afternoon in their respective houses in order to effect organization. Provisional President Huerta showed no signs of weakening this morning and the American Embassy is in a state of suspense.

IN DISTRICT COURT

Case of R. J. Maghan vs. A. A. Miller Decided in Maghan's Favor—The Verdict

In district court this morning the jury brought in a verdict in the civil case entitled R. J. Maghan vs. A. A. Miller, giving a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,074.31. The suit involved a land deal.

Today the case of John Scalucci vs. the Iron Mountain Mining Co., is on trial. This is a civil action in which Scalucci seeks to recover money he claims is due him from the mining company for work done.

Palmer-Strong

Ernest Alonzo Palmer, of Brainerd, and Miss Gladys Fay Strong, of Toronto, S. D., were married November 10 at Crystal City, Canada, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. W. Adamson at the parsonage. The short ring service was used.

The bride was handsomely gowned in blue satin messaline with embroidered silk net. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Strong, near Calvin, N. D.

The young man is employed at Brainerd as supply man for the Northern Pacific railway. He is the son of Mrs. M. E. Palmer. The happy couple will be at home to their friends in Brainerd after November 20.

The Dispatch joins their friends in extending heartiest congratulations and good wishes.

NOKAY NOTELETS

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hanson were visiting at Oreland Sunday.

Frank Cooley, Colburn Cannon and Miss Ellen Edwards attended the dance at W. Dalton's Saturday night, and report a fine time.

Mrs. H. Salisbury has gone to Gordon, Wis., to spend the winter. Mr. Salisbury went there some time ago and is working at his trade of painting.

The call of the wild was so strong when the deer season opened, that some of the hunters in the neighborhood took to backing as far back in the woods as they could get.

Frank Widham quit working on the drill run by C. F. Cooley north of Riverton and Mrs. Cooley's brother, Colburn Cannon, who recently came from Chevelah, Wash., is working in his place.

Charles Rosenkranz and family are moving on a farm near Brainerd this week. We all are sorry to see them go, and wish them prosperity in their new home.

Charlie Peterson, who is working near Ironston, spent Sunday at his home, or her home.

Gene Cooley, of Dykeman, is visiting at the home of his brother, T. S. Cooley.

Harry Wickham was real fortunate last week. He caught a large wolf and a weasel all in one day.

Mrs. Cora Cook, our teacher, is attending the teachers institute this week.

Grandma Blomstrom is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. A. Hanson.

FOXY GRANDPA.

John Carlson & Son Advertise Their Clothing Sale in Daily and Weekly Dispatch

IS GIVEN WIDEST PUBLICITY

Firm Has a Reputation for Square Dealing and Numbers Satisfied Customers by Hundreds

In Thursday's Daily Dispatch and in Friday's Weekly Dispatch will be found full two-page advertisements of John Carlson & Son, giving publicity to their great clothing sale which commences Friday, November 13 and continues for 13 days.

John Carlson & Son are clothiers who through square dealing have established a great reputation and hundreds of satisfied customers are numbered among their growing clientele.

In addition to the advertisements, the Dispatch printed a large amount of bills which have been liberally distributed in city and county.

Messrs. Carlson & Son state they have turned over their entire $30,000 stock of men's, young men's and boys' apparel to the L. E. Macomber Sales Co., of Minneapolis, to convert into cash within 13 days.

"We need the money," said Mr. Carlson, "and to raise it quick we will sacrifice our stock just when you need the goods at prices that will overshadow all sales ever held in this vicinity."

A PLEASING SOCIAL EVENT

Mesdames Dunn and Linnemann Entertain 100 Guests Wednesday Afternoon

Mesdames Dunn and Linnemann entertained about one hundred guests yesterday afternoon in the homey little hall that will probably always be known as Black Hawk hall.

Yellow chrysanthemums, palms, ferns and rugs added to the charm of the artistic furnishings and the small platform, covered with oriental rugs, furnished just the right setting for the gracious and charming reader, Mrs. Maude Pratt Crane.

The term "reader" does not do Mrs. Crane justice. She is a real impersonator. She became, in turn, the impulsive, tempestuous, capable and affectionate Anne Shirley, the sharp-tongued but tenderhearted Morilla Cuthbert, who possesses the saving sense of humor, the shy, silent, indulgent brother of Morilla, Mathew Cuthbert, who would spoil Anne if he dared, the village gossip, whose meddlesome tongue discounts the value of her helpful hands and warm heart, the straight-laced Mrs. Barry, Diana Barry, Anne's bosom friend, and Gilbert Blythe, Anne's teasing but manly rival for all honors in scholarship.

A good impersonator is as rare as a good actor—in fact they are made of the same stuff, and Mrs. Crane is certainly entitled to be classed among the gifted few in her line.

Mesdames Dunn and Linnemann are to be congratulated not only upon the entertainment they furnished, but also upon introducing such a pleasing variety into the social life of Brainerd.

Light refreshments were served in one of the smaller rooms, decorated with lavender chrysanthemums. Assisting the hostesses in the receiving line were Mesdames W. A. M. Johnston, R. J. Hartley, H. L. Jones and E. O. Webb; as ushers Misses Ethel Parker, Mabel O'Brien and Bertha Mahlum; in the cloak room, Mrs. Ewing.

Nearly Every Child Has Worms

A Chapel on a Bridge.

At St. Ives, the little old Huntingdonshire town in which Oliver Cromwell lived for several years, there is a bridge spanning the lazily flowing river Ouse, and on this bridge is a quaint building which at one time did duty as a chapel. The structure has been in existence for something like 500 years and was, according to local historians, originally employed as a beacon light-house. After that it was turned for a time into a hostel and eventually became an ordinary dwelling house. Some of the rooms in this curious old building are considerably below the level of the water in the river.—London Telegraph.

NEW DEPOT FOR BARROWS

Northern Pacific Railway Co. Starts Work on Combination Freight and Passenger Depot

STEAM SHOVEL AT THE MINE

Hiking Party from Brainerd Visits Barrows—Methodist Church Being Built

Barrows, Minn., Nov. 13.—Work on the new depot of the Northern Pacific railway has commenced. The building will be a combination freight and passenger depot measuring 30 by 48 feet in size and located on the corner of First avenue south and Third street.

The steam shovel has been busy at the Barrows mine the last week, about 10,000 tons of ore being shipped from the stockpile.

Contractor Harold Olson has commenced building the Methodist church in Barrows, the foundation having been laid. It will not be long before services are held there.

A number of Brainerd young people enjoyed a hiking party last Friday evening, walking from Brainerd to the home of the Misses Gertrude and Mary Clark where the evening was spent with games and music and lunch, returning on the 12 o'clock train. Those present were the Misses Rose Flansburg, Beatrice Noble, Mary and Gertrude Clark, Vivian and Beulah Brockway, Emma Halladay, Anna Erickson, Lillian Crosswell, Lois Leach, Anna Mosen, Anna Sincrook and Florence Carroll, Messrs. Dick Ahren, Ray and Floyd Hall, Claude Leak, Severin Swanson, William Anderson, George Sunburg, James Crust, Thomas Nicholas, Steve Nicholas, Leonard Eva and Ed. Ring.

G. Ryden returned from Hill City Monday.

John Znidarsich, of Aurora, was in Barrows today.

E. L. Smock, of Crow Wing, has returned to town.

The First State bank of Barrows reports very good business for the month of October.

William Mason, of Palsade, is in town this week.

A twelve-mile hike and a cold wave did not prevent the four jolly hikers from seeing Barrows Sunday. The mines are of great interest to many, but the grocery stores and restaurants seemed to catch the eyes of the hikers. We do not know the names or where they came from, but judging from the direction in which the misses left, they must have hailed from the city of Brainerd. They are, however, invited to come again.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Kohlsted left for Palsades Monday where Jake expects to bring down a deer.

Mike Janesky has improved his place of business with a set of brand new mahogany fixtures. A 24 foot bar now takes the place of the old one. A new gas lighting system has also been installed.

Mrs. M. Grance returned Saturday from the hospital at Brainerd.

The shirtwaist dance will be given at Peck's hall on Saturday evening, November 15, and a large attendance is expected from Brainerd.

Work on the school building will probably be commenced next spring.

Now, What Did He Give Her?

A particular old gentleman, pulling something out of his soup that should not have been included among the other ingredients, thus addressed his cook: "Josephine, I am much obliged for your thoughtfulness, but next time kindly give it to me in a pocket."—London Tit-Bits.

THE RESPONSE WAS GENEROUS

Committees Engaged in Collecting Clothing, Shoes, Etc., Were Busy Wednesday

BASEMENT FILLED COMPLETELY

Messrs Nelson, Peterson, Peacock and Lagerquist Worked Late at Night Sorting Goods

There was collected yesterday enough clothing, shoes and other articles to fill the basement below the D. A. Peterson store.

In the basement formerly occupied by a shoemaker, the committee, Wm. Nelson, treasurer and former president of the Booster Club, Alderman D. A. Peterson, City Engineer C. D. Peacock and President of the City Council C. A. Lagerquist worked until near the midnight hour assorting the varied collections and today one sees in the room orderly piles of blankets, coats for men, for women, for children, hats and caps, children's and women's dresses, waists, underwear of all kinds, baby clothes, shoes of all kinds, men's overcoats, vests, pants, etc.

On Wednesday C. D. Peacock in his automobile, C. A. Lagerquist with his car and D. A. Peterson, who furnished a man and delivery wagon, collected the donations. In addition 18 telephone calls were received and Mr. Peterson will send a man today to collect at these points. Any others who were missed by the committee in its collection tour may bring donations to the Peterson store.

In the future any applicants for relief may go to the Bachelor Maids, the Boosters club, the city council or the schools. The proper committee of each association is:

City council—Aldermen J. R. Smith, D. A. Peterson and George Hess.
Bachelor Maids—Miss Carrie Morrison, Mrs. H. G. Ingersoll.
Booster club—George J. Vogel, C. D. Peacock and J. L. Hartell.
Schools—Prof. W. C. Cobb or any principal.
Credit is due Prof. Cobb, for he worked hard in stirring up interest in the matter and the school children also contributed liberally.

LOERCH ITEMS

The dance at Dalton's was well attended by many friends who all reported a good time.

Mildred Miller, of Wiseville, is visiting in Loerch this week.

They say deer hunting is pretty good around Loerch, but remember boys, that "deer" and "deer" cannot be captured on one license.

Don't forget the shadow social at school district No. 5 Saturday night. Everybody come and enjoy yourself. Coffee will be served with your lunch.

Who won the candy Tuesday night? We did! Who ate it? The "candy kids", of course.

Those who went to Wright, Minn., for deer hunting last Saturday were Messrs. Tom, Oscar and John Dullum, Frank and Ralph Miller, Andrew Peterson, Oscar Parson and Ted Eamer.

Melvin Dullum left Tuesday for Duluth where he will stay for the winter.

Floyd Miller is working for his brother, Frank Miller, this week.

A Consumptive Cough

A cough that bothers you continually is one of the danger signals which warns of consumption. Dr. King's New Discovery will stop cough, loosen the chest, banish fever and let you sleep peacefully. The first dose checks the symptoms and gives prompt relief. Mrs. A. F. Mertz, of Glen Ellyn, Iowa, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery cured a stubborn cough after six weeks' doctoring failed to help." Try it, as it will do the same for you. Best medicine for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Money back if it fails. Price 50c and $1.00. All druggists, by mail, H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.—Adv. tts

AMERICAN EMBASSY IS IN SUSPENSE

Special to The Dispatch:

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—The official notification was published here today ordering those Mexican senators and deputies who were elected on Oct. 26 to assemble Saturday afternoon in their respective houses in order to effect organization. Provisional President Huerta showed no signs of weakening this morning and the American Embassy is in a state of suspense.

IN DISTRICT COURT

Case of R. J. Maghan vs A. A. Miller Decided in Maghan's Favor—The Verdict

In district court this morning the jury brought in a verdict in the civil case entitled R. J. Maghan vs A. A. Miller, giving a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,074.31. The suit involved a land deal.

Today the case of John Scalcucci vs the Iron Mountain Mining Co., is on trial. This is a civil action in which Scalcucci seeks to recover money he claims is due him from the mining company for work done.

Palmer-Strong

Ernest Alonzo Palmer, of Brainerd, and Miss Gladys Fay Strong, of Toronto, S. D., were married November 10 at Crystal City, Canada, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. W. Adamson at the parsonage. The short ring service was used.

The bride was handsomely gowned in blue satin messaline with embroidered silk net. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Strong, near Calvin, N. D.

The young man is employed at Brainerd as supply man for the Northern Pacific railway. He is the son of Mrs. M. E. Palmer. The happy couple will be at home to their friends in Brainerd after November 20.

The Dispatch joins their friends in extending heartiest congratulations and good wishes.

NOKAY NOTELETS

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hanson were visiting at Orelund Sunday.

Frank Cooley, Colburn Cannon and Miss Ellen Edwards attended the dance at W. Dalton's Saturday night, and report a fine time.

Mrs. H. Salisbury has gone to Gordon, Wis., to spend the winter. Mr. Salisbury went there some time ago and is working at his trade of painting.

The call of the wild was so strong when the deer season opened, that some of the hunters in the neighborhood took to backing as far back in the woods as they could get.

Frank Wickham quit working on the drill run by C. F. Cooley, north of Riverton and Mrs. Cooley's brother, Colburn Cannon, who recently came from Chevelah, Wash., is working in his place.

Charles Rosenkranz and family are moving on a farm near Brainerd this week. We all are sorry to see them go, and wish them prosperity in their new home.

Charlie Peterson, who is working near Ironton, spent Sunday at his home, or her home.

Gene Cooley, of Dykeman, is visiting at the home of his brother, T. S. Cooley.

Harry Wickham was real fortunate last week. He caught a large wolf and a weasel all in one day.

Mrs. Cora Cook, our teacher, is attending the teachers institute this week.

Grandma Blomstrom is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. A. Hanson.

METEORIC SHOWERS.

Why They Have Little or No Effect Upon the Earth's Balance.

In answer to the query, "The earth is held in its orbit by the absolute balance of centripetal and centrifugal forces, and if the balance were disturbed the earth should fly away into space or fall to the sun, yet this balance is continually disturbed by meteors and other causes and no catastrophe occurs; please explain." Edgar Lucien Larkin, in the New York American, says:

"There is no centrifugal force as such in nature. What so appears is reaction against gravity due to the motion of the earth. Inertia, an inherent property of all matter, would forever maintain a moving body in an absolutely straight line in its original direction unless some outside force draws it aside. The direction of drawing aside is always toward the outside disturbing mass—the sun in this case. And the earth thus continually falls from a straight line—a tangent—to its orbit through a distance of one-ninth of an inch during each second.

"If gravitation should suddenly be annihilated the earth would fly away on a straight line into space. But should a trillion tons of meteors suddenly fall on the earth it would not fall to the sun, but would still revolve around it much faster on a smaller orbit. The year would be shorter. And the new orbit assumed would be determined in space by the equilibrium of central gravitation and the reaction of inertia of the earth against it. But since the setting up of the grand master clock in Greenwich no variation of the length of the sidereal year has been detected. Therefore the mass of all the millions of meteors falling on the earth daily is too small to have any appreciable effect on the length of the year."

Speeding the Parting Guest.

"Etiquette," said a New York society woman, "now permits the hostess to limit in her invitations her guests' stay. 'Come for the week end,' she writes, or 'Come for a fortnight,' or 'Come for the month of October.'"

"But in our grandmother's day it would have been impolite to indicate in any way to a guest the length of the visit, hence many awkwardnesses.

"My grandmother used to tell of an elderly spinster who complained:

"I took one cake of soap with me when I went to visit Helen, and I told her I'd leave when the soap was gone. And—what do you think?—yesterday I caught Helen using the soap to shampoo her dog."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Swedish Lutherans of Brainerd and Deerwood to Unite in Issuing Swedish Magazine

THE CATHOLIC LADIES SUPPER

Was Well Attended Wednesday Evening, Being Given at Coffin's Hall—Other News

Deerwood, Minn., Nov. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hage are visiting in the Twin Cities.

The Catholic ladies "Pumpkin Pie Dinner" given on Wednesday evening at Coffin's hall was largely attended. The menu consisted of boiled ham, roast pork with apple sauce, veal loaf, mashed potatoes, salads and pickles, Boston baked beans, brown bread, hot rolls, pumpkin pie and hot coffee.

Ed. Lent has completed several plastering jobs in Riverton.

Deputy Sheriff Claus Theorin, of Brainerd, was in town Wednesday. County Commissioner John A. Oberg has returned from Minneapolis where he attended the convention of county commissioners.

Herman Peterson is a member of the petit jury at the county seat.

Miss Maud Hage attended the Sunday school convention in Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Maley and children were Brainerd visitors last Wednesday.

Howard Dickerson attended to business matters in Walker this week.

C. J. Rathvon, the hotel and real estate man, has been very sick with an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Emil Ahre was the guest of Brainerd friends this week.

Miss Mabel Hilyar visited her friend, Miss Alma Mattson this week.

The Aitkin Symphony orchestra of twelve pieces will give a concert and dance at Hilyar's hall on Saturday evening, November 15.

The Methodist and Union Sunday schools have united and elected officers, C. J. Rathvon being superintendent.

Miss Hazel Hilyar is the new bookkeeper of the Dower Lumber Co.

The Ingalls Motor Boat Co. expects to run over half of November.

Reno lake is partly frozen and skating is a dangerous pastime until the ice is thicker and the lake is completely frozen over.

Swedish Lutherans of Brainerd and Deerwood intend to soon issue a monthly magazine printed in Swedish and giving the church news of the district. It will be edited by Rev. Elov Carlson, of Brainerd, and the Deerwood minister. The first edition will be one of about 1,000 copies.

RAILROAD COMEDY

Methods of Operation in 1852 Seem Laughable Today.

QUAINT RIGHT OF WAY RULES.

On the Western and Atlantic When Trains Met Between Stations and a Dispute Arose the Conductors Decided Which Train Had to Back Down.

A most interesting exhibit of the early days of railroading in this country has been found by the Railroad Age Gazette. It is a schedule for passenger trains and rules for the conduct of engineers and conductors on the Western and Atlantic, which was at the time and still is owned by the state of Georgia. The table is dated March 1, 1852, and was issued by William M. Wadley, superintendent, father of George D. Wadley, the latter for many years manager of the Central Railroad of Georgia.

The schedule shows a picture of an engine and cars at the top. Under it the numbers and names of the stations, the times for arrival, the times for departure and the time taken to run between stations as well as remarks about passing sidetracked freights are all carefully tabulated.

In the rules for engineers and conductors are many which seem quaint in this age of colossal railroading. Of course the road had only one track, and rule 14 for passenger conductors shows that there must have been some dispute when trains met as to which train had the right to keep on its way uninterrupted. This rule says:

"As a general rule, when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back. Any dispute as to which train is to retire is to be determined at once by the conductors without interference on the part of the engineers. This rule is required to be varied in favor of the heaviest loaded engine or worst grades if they meet near the center."

Rule 7 gives the conductor directions for reporting on the number of passengers who are paying and the number of ministers of the gospel who were to be charged half price when on business connected with their calling. The same rule indicated that the governor of the state and the general superintendent of the road were the only individuals who had a right to give passes. The conductor was ordered to inspect the running gear of his train at every station and in rule 13 was admonished never to leave Atlanta or Chattanooga without the mail or without first sending to the postoffice after it. Rule 17 says that a train stopping at any station at night must invariably be run on the turnout so as to leave the main track clear, and that strict watch had to be kept in all cases where a train stopped at night.

In the regulations for passenger engineers there are a number which seem almost humorous in this period of railroad management. For instance, the engineman was instructed that if his train killed any stock and threw the cow or cows in such a position as to endanger the safety of the next train he was to stop his train and see that the track was cleared.

Passenger trains were not to exceed the speed of their schedule except when behind time, in which case the speed might be increased three miles an hour generally. In passing turnouts (the turnout evidently was the switching track) the speed had to be diminished to six miles an hour.

Rule 6 might be put in force today with good effect and to the delight of a much jolted traveling public. It reads:

"In connecting and in starting with his train the engineman will be exceedingly careful in the management of the throttle so that the cars may not be injured or the passengers annoyed by the sudden violence of the start."

This paragraph is found at the end of the regulations for engineers:

"For any violation of the above rules, for running off at turnouts, for killing of stock by daylight and for all other irregularities the general superintendent will impose such fines as he deems just and called for by the nature of the offense."

The freight trains took two days to make the 137 miles between Atlanta and Chattanooga. The stops at the stations varied from ten to sixty minutes. One of the rules for freight conductors about keeping a certain distance from the trains ahead of him and behind him shows that there must have been a delightful uncertainty about the provisions for changing meeting points in case trains were delayed. It is evident that there was no telegraph communication along the line, although this was eight years after Morse had demonstrated that he could send messages over the wire from Washington to Baltimore. Several months before Charles Minot also had made use of the telegraph in ordering the operation of trains on the Erie.

One of Wales' Wonders.

The tower of Wrexham church (St. Giles) is one of the seven wonders of Wales. It is 135 feet high, and fifty-two statues adorn its niches. It was completed in 1606, although the church itself was erected in the reign of Henry VII. The church contains pictures from the brush of Rubens, and one of Rubilliac's sculptured masterpieces is the memorial to Mrs. Mary Middleton, showing a female figure starting from the grave at the sound of the last trump. In the churchyard are many quaint epitaphs.—Cardiff Western Mail.

Where the Shoe Pinches.

Every man will dispute with great good humor upon a subject in which he is not interested. I will dispute very calmly upon the probability of another man's son being hanged, but if a man zealously enforces the probability that my own son will be hanged I shall certainly not be in a very good humor with him.—Johnson.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along. Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it. Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal. Rather extravagant? Yes? The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control. RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned. You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke.

Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air. This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite.

This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

METEORIC SHOWERS.

Why They Have Little or No Effect Upon the Earth's Balance.

In answer to the query, "The earth is held in its orbit by the absolute balance of centripetal and centrifugal forces, and if the balance were disturbed the earth should fly away into space or fall to the sun, yet this balance is continually disturbed by meteors and other causes and no catastrophe occurs; please explain," Edgar Lucien Larkin, in the New York American, says:

"There is no centrifugal force as such in nature. What so appears is reaction against gravity due to the motion of the earth. Inertia, an inherent property of all matter, would forever maintain a moving body in an absolutely straight line in its original direction unless some outside force draws it aside. The direction of drawing aside is always toward the outside disturbing mass—the sun in this case. And the earth thus continually falls from a straight line—a tangent—to its orbit through a distance of one-ninth of an inch during each second.

"If gravitation should suddenly be annihilated the earth would fly away on a straight line into space. But should a trillion tons of meteors suddenly fall on the earth it would not fall to the sun, but would still revolve around it much faster on a smaller orbit. The year would be shorter. And the new orbit assumed would be determined in space by the equilibrium of central gravitation and the reaction of inertia of the earth against it. But since the setting up of the grand master clock in Greenwich no variation of the length of the sidereal year has been detected. Therefore the mass of all the millions of meteors falling on the earth daily is too small to have any appreciable effect on the length of the year."

Speeding the Parting Guest.
"Etiquette," said a New York society woman, "now permits the hostess to limit in her invitations her guests' stay. 'Come for the week end,' she writes, or 'Come for a fortnight,' or 'Come for the month of October.'"

"But in our grandmother's day it would have been impolite to indicate in any way to a guest the length of the visit, hence many awkwardnesses.

"My grandmother used to tell of an elderly spinster who complained: 'I took one cake of soap with me when I went to visit Helen, and I told her I'd leave when the soap was gone. And—what do you think?—yesterday I caught Helen using the soap to shampoo her dog.'"

THE CATHOLIC LADIES SUPPER

Was Well Attended Wednesday Evening, Being Given at Coffin's Hall—Other News

Deerwood, Minn., Nov. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hage are visiting in the Twin Cities.

The Catholic ladies "Pumpkin Pie Dinner" given on Wednesday evening at Coffin's hall was largely attended. The menu consisted of boiled ham, roast pork with apple sauce, veal loaf, mashed potatoes, salads and pickles, Boston baked beans, brown bread, hot rolls, pumpkin pie and hot coffee.

Ed. Lent has completed several plastering jobs in Riverton.

Deputy Sheriff Claus Theorin, of Brainerd, was in town Wednesday. County Commissioner John A. Oberg has returned from Minneapolis where he attended the convention of county commissioners.

Herman Peterson is a member of the petit jury at the county seat.

Miss Maud Hage attended the Sunday school convention in Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Maley and children were Brainerd visitors last Wednesday.

Howard Dickerson attended to business matters in Walker this week.

C. J. Rathvon, the hotel and real estate man, has been very sick with an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Emil Ahre was the guest of Brainerd friends this week.

Miss Mabel Hilyar visited her friend, Miss Alma Mattson this week.

The Aitkin Symphony orchestra of twelve pieces will give a concert and dance at Hilyar's hall on Saturday evening, November 15.

The Methodist and Union Sunday schools have united and elected officers, C. J. Rathvon being superintendent.

Miss Hazel Hilyar is the new bookkeeper of the Dover Lumber Co.

The Ingalls Motor Boat Co. expects to run over half of November.

RAILROAD COMEDY

Methods of Operation in 1852 Seem Laughable Today.

QUAINT RIGHT OF WAY RULES.

On the Western and Atlantic When Trains Met Between Stations and a Dispute Arose the Conductors Decided Which Train Had to Back Down.

A most interesting exhibit of the early days of railroading in this country has been found by the Railroad Age Gazette. It is a schedule for passenger trains and rules for the conduct of engineers and conductors on the Western and Atlantic, which was at the time and still is owned by the state of Georgia. The table is dated March 1, 1852, and was issued by William M. Wadley, superintendent, father of George D. Wadley, the latter for many years manager of the Central Railroad of Georgia.

The schedule shows a picture of an engine and cars at the top. Under it the numbers and names of the stations, the times for arrival, the times for departure and the time taken to run between stations as well as remarks about passing sidetracked freights are all carefully tabulated.

In the rules for engineers and conductors are many which seem quaint in this age of colossal railroading. Of course the road had only one track, and rule 14 for passenger conductors shows that there must have been some dispute when trains met as to which train had the right to keep on its way uninterrupted. This rule says:

"As a general rule, when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back. Any dispute as to which train is to retire is to be determined at once by the conductors without interference on the part of the engineers. This rule is required to be varied in favor of the heaviest loaded engine or worst grades if they meet near the center."

Rule 7 gives the conductor directions for reporting on the number of passengers who are paying and the number of ministers of the gospel who were to be charged half price when on business connected with their calling. The same rule indicated that the governor of the state and the general superintendent of the road were the only individuals who had a right to give passes.

The conductor was ordered to inspect the running gear of his train at every station and in rule 13 was admonished never to leave Atlanta or Chattanooga without the mail or without first sending to the postoffice after it. Rule 17 says that a train stopping at any station at night must invariably be run on the turnout so as to leave the main track clear, and that strict watch had to be kept in all cases where a train stopped at night.

In the regulations for passenger engineers there are a number which seem almost humorous in this period of railroad management. For instance, the engineman was instructed that if his train killed any stock and threw the cow or cows in such a position as to endanger the safety of the next train he was to stop his train and see that the track was cleared.

Passenger trains were not to exceed the speed of their schedule except when behind time, in which case the speed might be increased three miles an hour generally. In passing turnouts (the turnout evidently was the switching track) the speed had to be diminished to six miles an hour.

Rule 6 might be put in force today with good effect and to the delight of a much jolted traveling public. It reads:

"In connecting and in starting with his train the engineman will be exceedingly careful in the management of the throttle so that the cars may not be injured or the passengers annoyed by the sudden violence of the start."

This paragraph is found at the end of the regulations for engineers:

"For any violation of the above rules, for running off at turnouts, for killing of stock by daylight and for all other irregularities the general superintendent will impose such fines as he deems just and called for by the nature of the offense."

The freight trains took two days to make the 137 miles between Atlanta and Chattanooga. The stops at the stations varied from ten to sixty minutes. One of the rules for freight conductors about keeping a certain distance from the trains ahead of him and behind him shows that there must have been a delightful uncertainty about the provisions for changing meeting points in case trains were delayed. It is evident that there was no telegraph communication along the line, although this was eight years after Morse had demonstrated that he could send messages over the wire from Washington to Baltimore. Several months before Charles Minot also had made use of the telegraph in ordering the operation of trains on the Erie.

One of Wales' Wonders.

The tower of Wrexham church (St. Giles') is one of the seven wonders of Wales. It is 135 feet high, and fifty-two statues adorn its niches. It was completed in 1606, although the church itself was erected in the reign of Henry VII. The church contains pictures from the brush of Rubens, and one of Rubilliac's sculptured masterpieces is the memorial to Mrs. Mary Myddleton, showing a female figure starting from the grave at the sound of the last trump. In the churchyard are many quaint epitaphs.—Cardiff Western Mail.

Where the Shoe Pinches.

Every man will dispute with great good humor upon a subject in which he is not interested. I will dispute very calmly upon the probability of another man's son being hanged, but if a man zealously enforces the probability that my own son will be hanged I shall certainly not be in a very good humor with him.—Johnson.

UNCLE SAM AIDS WOMAN ON FARM

Many Free Publications For Rural Housewives.

WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS.

Milk, Bees and Chickens, Cooking, Care of Flowers and a Host of Other Things Among Topics Included in Numerous Bulletins Now Issued by Government—Supply Limited.

Following its policy to aid farmers' housewives, the department of agriculture in Washington has just issued a list of free publications which apply particularly to women's work. This list is furnished free on application to the editor and chief of the division of publications, United States department of agriculture, Washington, as are the bulletins which it describes.

The bulletins are divided into over 100 special classes, there being sometimes as many as a dozen pamphlets for a subject.

There is one class of bulletins dealing with dairying, while others specially concern butter, cheese, cream and milk. Among the bulletins dealing with milk are the following:

"The Care of Milk and Its Use in the Home," "Ropy Milk and Cream," "Buttermilk," "Clean Milk," "Milk Supply of Cities," "The Covered Milk Pail," "Cost of Market Milk" and "Lacto, a New and Healthful Frozen Dairy Product."

Bulletins on the subject "Drugs" are entitled: "Harmfulness of Headache Mixtures" and "Habit Forming Agents—Their Indiscriminate Sale and Use a Menace to the Public Welfare."

Bulletins Cover Wide Range.

There is a set of bulletins dealing with bees; a set dealing with birds, and another set dealing with such household insects as the ant and the flea. Guinea pigs, rabbits and rats also have each a bulletin devoted to them, and particular attention is given to poultry under the following heads:

"Poultry Accounting," "Poultry Diseases and Pests," "Ducks and Geese," "Eggs," "Poultry Feeding," "Guinea Fowl," "Incubation," "Poultry Marketing," "Pheasants," "Squabs," "Turkeys."

Farm conveniences in general have one set of bulletins to describe them, and farmers' institutes another.

Hints on how to prepare foods cover a wide range of subjects, including apples, banana flour, bread, cereal breakfast foods, clams, coffee substitutes and corn. There are twelve bulletins devoted to canning and preserving, while the dressmaker is the subject of a separate bulletin.

Fruits and flowers each receive their merited share of attention. Annual flowering plants, directions for making window gardens, china asters, garden sweet peas, peonies and rose slugs are subjects treated in the floriculture set, while the blueberry, grape, melons, the mulberry, the raspberry, the rose, the strawberry make up the fruit culture set of publication. Vegetable culture includes bulletins on asparagus, celery, cucumber, mushrooms, okra, rhubarb and tomato.

Facts About Agricultural Clubs.

The housewife who wishes to know about helpful organizations for boys and girls, such as the corn, poultry and canning clubs, may learn about them by sending for the list of pamphlets included under the heading "Agricultural Clubs."

Trees, school gardens, roads, paint and whitewashes, industrial alcohol and water are samples of the wide range of subjects of these publications which the department will send free to the farm woman on application.

Because of the limited supply applicants are urgently requested to ask only for those bulletins in which they are particularly interested. The department cannot undertake to supply complete sets, nor may the applicant ask for more than one copy of any publication for herself.

In applying for these publications, the department advises, first send for the list, and then indicate from this the name of the series and serial number of the bulletins or circulars that are desired.

Daniels For Compulsory Voting.

The secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, recently said in the Yale News that the time has come when the compulsory ballot must at least have a fair test. "If we require our citizens," he adds, "to serve on the jury, to bear arms when called upon, to obey any process of the court, to work on the roads in many districts and to pay taxes, may we not also make it compulsory for them to vote?"

BRAVE MEN AND WOMEN GET MEDALS AND CASH.

Carnegie Commission Disburses Nearly $100,000 For Gallant Deeds.

Nearly $100,000 is disbursed to heroes or their relatives by the Carnegie hero fund commission, according to its report just made public. The commission distributes immediately $91,000 in awards of $2,000 and $1,000 each. There are sixteen awards of $2,000 and thirty-nine of $1,000 each. The remainder are in awards consisting of pensions ranging from $5 to $65 a month and in cash sums under $1,000. A medal, either bronze or silver or gold, accompanies every award.

The highest award, consisting of a gold medal and $2,000 in cash, goes to Charles N. Wright, a merchant, thirty-eight years old, of Highlands, N. C., who, with William L. Dillard, a lawyer, thirty-three years old, of the same place, helped to save R. Augustus Baty, a carpenter, from a fall down a precipice at that place on May 14, 1911. Dillard receives a silver medal and $2,000.

Baty had fallen from the summit of Whiteside mountain at Fool's rock and rolled 150 feet down an almost vertical cliff and lodged against a small bush, two inches from the brink of a precipice 2,000 feet deep, part of his body dangling over the edge.

Wright and Dillard descended the vertical ledge, their only handholds or footholds being ridges and hollows not more than an inch in height or depth. Wright's wife saw him and began to scream. He was nearly unnerved, but pushed on. Stopping at a tiny bush six feet above Baty he let his feet down to a ledge two feet above the brink and then grasped Baty's coat collar. Baty gave a sudden jerk, but became quiet when Wright threatened him.

Wright drew Baty up to a place of comparative safety, where Dillard, who had lost his nerve in the final stages of the rescue, was waiting. The two men now took Baty, who was delirious, fifteen feet across the bare face of the cliff, within eighteen inches of the brink. Then they moved him to the foot of the vertical ledge at the summit, from which point he was hoisted by means of a line. The rescue took two hours and thirty minutes.

Ladies and Cricket.

Ladies' cricket matches were not uncommon in the eighteenth century and were apparently highly popular. In 1747 a game between the Maids of Charlton and the Maids of Singleton on the artillery ground, London, attracted "the greatest number of spectators ever seen at any public diversion."

In fact, the finish of the game had to be postponed owing to the breaking in of "the company" whereby "some of the players were very much frightened." In 1768, too, at Upham, in Wilts, eleven married played eleven single women for a plum cake and a barrel of ale. The cake and ale went to those who lacked husbands.—London Chronicle.

FEDERAL INQUIRY INTO CONDITIONS

Trusts to Be Investigated by Order of President.

SURVEY TO BE IMPARTIAL.

United States Commissioner of Corporations Joseph E. Davies Makes Official Announcement Defining Attitude of Wilson Administration Toward Industrial Combinations.

Joseph E. Davies, United States commissioner of corporations, in defining the attitude of the Wilson administration toward corporations before the American Hardware Manufacturers' association in convention at Atlantic City, N. J., told the manufacturers, representing practically the entire output of the hardware industry, that neither they nor any other industry doing business within the law had anything to fear from the federal department of justice.

The beginning of a new scientific investigation of the industrial situation, under the direction of President Wilson, which will contribute to the administration's trust legislation program, was announced by Commissioner Davies. He said in part:

"Whether a competitive system of large units or a monopolistic system is the most advantageous to society is the question the bureau will attempt to determine.

Fair Investigation Promised. "We shall enter into this investigation with the sole intent of working out in a scientific and fair minded spirit the facts absolutely as they are. So vital and so fundamental is this problem that to attack it in any other spirit would be criminal."

Commissioner Davies declared that the ultimate solution of the trust problem depended upon the determination of the question this bureau is about to investigate and said the problem might be solved by amendments to the Sherman law and by an industrial trade commission or by action looking to regulation by the individual states. If the monopolistic system should be found to be most efficient there would still remain, he said, a question whether the government should maintain an attitude against monopoly by reason of other and greater additional evil it induces.

"Our theory of government is wrong," said he, "if our laws shall not decree that the few men who are trustees for society and who should be fairly and abundantly compensated for the services they render should also be prevented from putting their feet in the trough if they become animated by the fundamental greed that lies in human nature."

Problem a Far-reaching One. "This problem reaches down to the fundamentals of government itself. It will test the greatest minds of this generation and the next."

"An investigation only recently conducted by congress has given evidences of certain insidious influences that attack the integrity of government itself."

"The economic aspects of the problem, the fair, just attitude of government to capital invested and men interested in and directing these great enterprises as well as to the public at large and what shall be done to preserve freedom of opportunity for business, is the problem to which congress will address itself in the immediate future."

Commissioner Davies reviewed various suggestions for amendment of the Sherman law, many of which have been introduced as bills in congress, looking to the prevention of the issue of watered stock, interlocking ownership, common directorates and other similar conditions to which many economic evils are attributed. He spoke particularly of the contention that the government should regulate and control prices.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and luxuriant at once—No more falling hair

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must see Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

FORMS HAPPINESS LEAGUE.

To Report Acts of Courtesy on Blanks to Headquarters.

A wealthy Cleveland philosopher, William Vernon Backus, has formed the Appreciation League of the United States and aims to promote tolerance, the art of making happiness epidemic. The only requirement for membership is a desire to make other folk happy.

Members will be provided with blanks and will report to the headquarters of the league acts of courtesy by employees of all sorts. Notice of these reports will be sent to the courteous one's employers. When an employee gets three "courtesy reports" he is entitled to a special letter from the secretary of the league and a badge of merit.

Easily Explained.

An Englishman visiting this country was remarking upon several things which had somewhat surprised him while in New York.

"Most remarkable," he said, "Your aged New York women are so straight and upstanding! I have not seen even a bent over old woman!"

"Easily explained," returned his American friend. "When women become too old to be offered seats in the subway and surface cars they get straightened out hanging on to the straps."—Exchange.

A Prophetic Dream.

One of the most inexplicable forms of dream is the prophetic one, instances of which abound. The late Lord Dufferin when in Paris dreamed one night that he was in a hearse en route for the cemetery. A day or so later he was entering the lift at a hotel when he recognized the attendant as the driver of the hearse in his dream. He stepped back and the lift ascended without him. As it neared the top something broke, and it crashed to the bottom again, killing every one in it.

Spoiled Children.

The child that is constantly indulged, who has every wish gratified as soon as expressed, is sure to be a very miserable child and man. It thinks that the world revolves about it, and when at school or in the world it finds that it must both give and take it is made utterly wretched. The spoiled child is not only a terror to all others, but most painful to itself.

AERIAL TORPEDO FLEETS.

Frenchman Invents New and Terrible Engine of Destruction.

A new and terrible engine of destruction whose function in the air will be the same as that of a torpedo at sea has been designed by Captain Reboul of the French military general staff.

Captain Reboul's experiments with his aerial torpedo made comparatively little progress until the recent discovery of a stabilizing device for aeroplanes by the French inventor Moreau. Moreau was able by means of his invention to fly in a strong wind for over half an hour without touching his hands to the levers of his machine, only using his feet on the pedals for steering purposes. Captain Reboul has applied Moreau's stabilizer to his own invention and is able to foresee the time when a fleet of winged torpedoes controlled by wireless telegraphy may be launched against the enemy's air fleet immediately on its appearance.

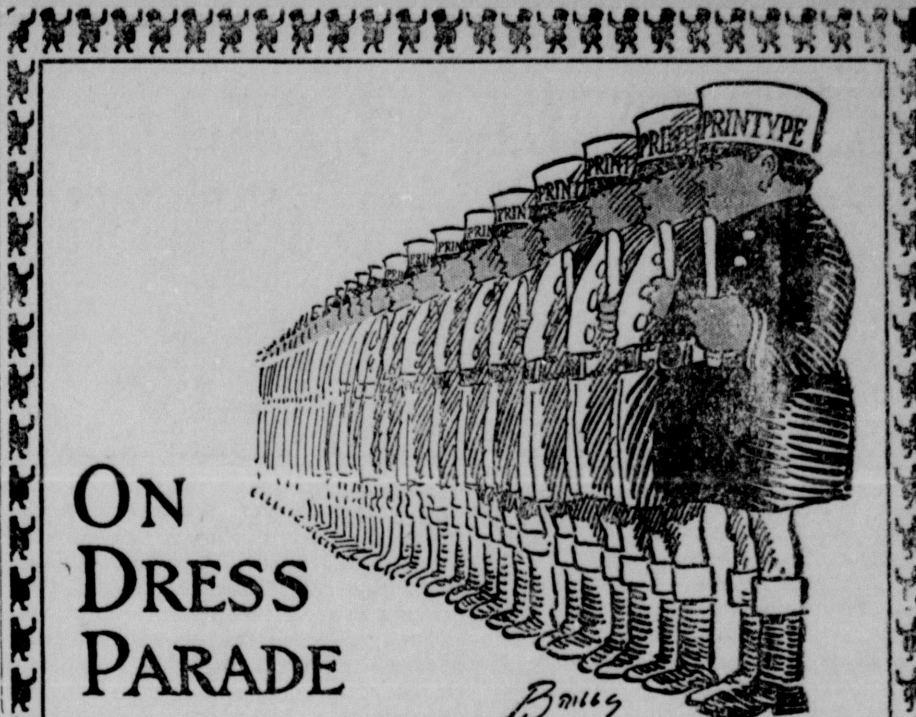

It is not impossible to believe that in the warfare of the future dirigible balloons and aeroplanes will go into the air accompanied by a fleet of protecting satellites. Under control of the air men these torpedoes will act as escort to the principal ship and then be launched against the enemy.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses are Taken

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Hindipo, relieves all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly.

It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, Hindipo is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate case.

UNCLE SAM AIDS WOMAN ON FARM

Many Free Publications For Rural Housewives.

WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS.

Milk, Bees and Chickens, Cooking, Care of Flowers and a Host of Other Things Among Topics Included in Numerous Bulletins Now Issued by Government—Supply Limited.

Following its policy to aid farmers' housewives, the department of agriculture in Washington has just issued a list of free publications which apply particularly to women's work. This list is furnished free on application to the editor and chief of the division of publications, United States department of agriculture, Washington, as are the bulletins which it describes.

The bulletins are divided into over 100 special classes, there being sometimes as many as a dozen pamphlets for a subject.

There is one class of bulletins dealing with dairying, while others specially concern butter, cheese, cream and milk. Among the bulletins dealing with milk are the following:

"The Care of Milk and Its Use in the Home," "Rope Milk and Cream," "Buttermilk," "Clean Milk," "Milk Supply of Cities," "The Covered Milk Pail," "Cost of Market Milk" and "Lacto, a New and Healthful Frozen Dairy Product."

Bulletins on the subject "Drugs" are entitled:

"Harmfulness of Headache Mixtures" and "Habit Forming Agents—Their Indiscriminate Sale and Use a Menace to the Public Welfare."

Bulletins Cover Wide Range.

There is a set of bulletins dealing with bees; a set dealing with birds, and another set dealing with such household insects as the ant and the flea. Guinea pigs, rabbits and rats also have each a bulletin devoted to them, and particular attention is given to poultry under the following heads:

"Poultry Accounting," "Poultry Diseases and Pests," "Ducks and Geese," "Eggs," "Poultry Feeding," "Guinea Fowl," "Incubation," "Poultry Marketing," "Pheasants," "Squabs," "Turkeys."

Farm conveniences in general have one set of bulletins to describe them, and farmers' institutes another.

Hints on how to prepare foods cover a wide range of subjects, including apples, banana flour, bread, cereal breakfast foods, clams, coffee substitutes and corn. There are twelve bulletins devoted to canning and preserving, while the fireless cooker is the subject of a separate bulletin.

Fruits and flowers each receive their merited share of attention. Annual flowering plants, directions for making window gardens, china asters, garden sweet peas, peonies and rose slugs are subjects treated in the floriculture set, while the blueberry, grape, melons, the mulberry, the raspberry, the rose, and the strawberry make up the fruit culture set of publication. Vegetable culture includes bulletins on asparagus, celery, cucumber, mushrooms, okra, rhubarb and tomato.

Facts About Agricultural Clubs.

The housewife who wishes to know about helpful organizations for boys and girls, such as the corn, poultry and canning clubs, may learn about them by sending for the list of pamphlets included under the heading "Agricultural Clubs."

Trees, school gardens, roads, paint and whitewashes, industrial alcohol and water are samples of the wide range of subjects of these publications which the department will send free to the farm woman on application.

Because of the limited supply applicants are urgently requested to ask only for those bulletins in which they are particularly interested. The department cannot undertake to supply complete sets, nor may the applicant ask for more than one copy of any publication for herself.

In applying for these publications, the department advises, first send for the list, and then indicate from this the name of the series and serial number of the bulletins or circulars that are desired.

Daniels For Compulsory Voting.

The secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, recently said in the Yale News that the time has come when the compulsory ballot must at least have a fair test. "If we require our citizens," he adds, "to serve on the jury, to hear arms when called upon, to obey any process of the court, to work on the roads in many districts and to pay taxes, may we not also make it compulsory for them to vote?"

Carnegie Commission Disburses Nearly $100,000 For Gallant Deeds.

Nearly $100,000 is disbursed to heroes or their relatives by the Carnegie hero fund commission, according to its report just made public. The commission distributes immediately $91,000 in awards of $2,000 and $1,000 each. There are sixteen awards of $2,000 and thirty-nine of $1,000 each. The remainder are in awards consisting of pensions ranging from $5 to $85 a month and in cash sums under $1,000. A medal, either bronze or silver or gold, accompanies every award.

The highest award, consisting of a gold medal and $2,000 in cash, goes to Charles N. Wright, a merchant, thirty-eight years old, of Highlands, N. C., who, with William L. Dillard, a liveryman, thirty-three years old, of the same place, helped to save R. Augustus Baty, a carpenter, from a fall down a precipice at that place on May 14, 1911. Dillard receives a silver medal and $2,000.

Baty had fallen from the summit of Whiteside mountain at Fool's rock and rolled 150 feet down an almost vertical cliff and lodged against a small bush, two inches from the brink of a precipice 2,000 feet deep, part of his body dangling over the edge.

Wright and Dillard descended the vertical ledge, their only handholds or footholds being ridges and hollows not more than an inch in height or depth. Wright's wife saw him and began to scream. He was nearly unnerved, but pushed on. Stopping at a tiny bush six feet above Baty he let his feet down to a ledge two feet above the brink and then grasped Baty's coat collar. Baty gave a sudden jerk, but became quiet when Wright threatened him.

Wright drew Baty up to a place of comparative safety, where Dillard, who had lost his nerve in the final stages of the rescue, was waiting. The two men now took Baty, who was delirious, fifteen feet across the bare face of the cliff, within eighteen inches of the brink. Then they moved him to the foot of the vertical ledge at the summit, from which point he was hoisted by means of a line. The rescue took two hours and thirty minutes.

Ladies and Crickets.

Ladies' cricket matches were not uncommon in the eighteenth century and were apparently highly popular. In 1747 a game between the Maids of Charlton and the Maids of Singleton on the artillery ground, London, attracted "the greatest number of spectators ever seen at any public diversion."

In fact, the finish of the game had to be postponed owing to the breaking in of "the company" whereby "some of the players were very much frightened." In 1768, too, at Upham, in Wilts, eleven married played eleven single women for a plum cake and a barrel of ale. The cake and ale went to those who lacked husbands.—London Chronicle.

FEDERAL INQUIRY INTO CONDITIONS

Trusts to Be Investigated by Order of President.

SURVEY TO BE IMPARTIAL.

United States Commissioner of Corporations Joseph E. Davies Makes Official Announcement Defining Attitude of Wilson Administration Toward Industrial Combinations.

Joseph E. Davies, United States commissioner of corporations, in defining the attitude of the Wilson administration toward corporations before the American Hardware Manufacturers' association in convention at Atlantic City, N. J., told the manufacturers, representing practically the entire output of the hardware industry, that neither they nor any other industry doing business within the law had anything to fear from the federal department of justice.

The beginning of a new scientific investigation of the industrial situation, under the direction of President Wilson, which will contribute to the administration's trust legislation program, was announced by Commissioner Davies. He said in part:

"Whether a competitive system of large units or a monopolistic system is the most advantageous to society is the question the bureau will attempt to determine.

Fair Investigation Promised.

"We shall enter into this investigation with the sole intent of working out in a scientific and fair minded spirit the facts absolutely as they are. So vital and so fundamental is this problem that to attack it in any other spirit would be criminal."

Commissioner Davies declared that the ultimate solution of the trust problem depended upon the determination of the question this bureau is about to investigate and said the problem might be solved by amendments to the Sherman law and by an industrial trade commission or by action looking to regulation by the individual states. If the monopolistic system should be found to be most efficient there would still remain, he said, a question whether the government should maintain an attitude against monopoly by reason of other and greater additional evils it induces.

"Our theory of government is wrong," said he, "if our laws shall not decree that the few men who are trustees for society and who should be fairly and abundantly compensated for the services they render should also be prevented from putting their feet in the trough if they become animated by the fundamental greed that lies in human nature."

Problem a Far-reaching One.

"This problem reaches down to the fundamentals of government itself. It will tax the greatest minds of this generation and the next."

"An investigation only recently conducted by congress has given evidences of certain insidious influences that attack the integrity of government itself. "The economic aspects of the problem, the fair, just attitude of government to capital invested and men interested in and directing these great enterprises as well as to the public at large and what shall be done to preserve freedom of opportunity for business, is the problem to which congress will address itself in the immediate future."

Commissioner Davies reviewed various suggestions for amendment of the Sherman law, many of which have been introduced as bills in congress, looking to the prevention of the issue of watered stock, interlocking ownership, common directorates and other similar conditions to which many economic evils are attributed. He spoke particularly of the contention that the government should regulate and control prices.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and luxuriant at once—No more falling hair

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

FORMS HAPPINESS LEAGUE.

To Report Acts of Courtesy on Blanks to Headquarters.

A wealthy Cleveland philosopher, William Vernon Backus, has formed the Appreciation League of the United States and aims to promote talosphy, the art of making happiness epidemic. The only requirement for membership is a desire to make other folk happy.

Members will be provided with blanks and will report to the headquarters of the league acts of courtesy by employees of all sorts. Notice of these reports will be sent to the courteous one's employers. When an employee gets three "courtesy reports" he is entitled to a special letter from the secretary of the league and a badge of merit.

Easily Explained.

An Englishman visiting this country was remarking upon several things which had somewhat surprised him while in New York. "Most remarkable," he said, "Young New York women are so straight and upstanding! I have not seen even a bent over old woman!" "Easily explained," returned his American friend. "When women become too old to be offered seats in the subway and surface cars they get straightened out hanging on to the straps."—Exchange.

A Prophetic Dream.

One of the most inexplicable forms of dream is the prophetic one. Instances of which abound. The late Lord Dufferin when in Paris dreamed one night that he was in a hearse en route for the cemetery. A day or so later he was entering the lift at a hotel when he recognized the attendant as the driver of the hearse in his dream. He stepped back and the lift ascended without him. As it neared the top something broke, and it crashed to the bottom again, killing every one in it.

Spoiled Children.

The child that is constantly indulged, who has every wish gratified as soon as expressed, is sure to be a very miserable child and man. It thinks that the world revolves about it, and when at school or in the world it finds that it must both give and take it is made utterly wretched. The spoiled child is not only a terror to all others, but most painful to itself.

HAWTHORNE'S TALE OF PRISON HORRORS IS TO BE PROBED

Charges Against Atlanta Penal Institution Were Big Surprise.

Had Been Regarded as a Model Under Warden W. H. Moyer.

WHEN Julian Hawthorne, son of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and his companion, Dr. W. P. Morton, coming out of the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., on parole, said that the prison was a "living hell" and a place of slow murder and told why they thought so they precipitated a debate that is likely not to end until all officials and employees of the prison as well as many prisoners of high and low degree are subjected to questioning.

An investigation is to be held, Warden W. H. Moyer, the object of Hawthorne's most earnest denunciation, has requested it.

The charges come as a complete surprise generally, and particularly in Atlanta, where the federal prison has always been regarded as a model. The Atlanta penitentiary, while smaller than the prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was believed to be more efficient, and when a new warden was named to take over the Leavenworth penitentiary several months ago he was commissioned to come to Atlanta to study the details of Warden Moyer's establishment with a view to installing some of the features obtaining there at Leavenworth.

For Eastern Prisoners.

The Atlanta penitentiary is the place to which are sent all persons convicted in the United States courts in the eastern states. Fort Leavenworth is the destination of prisoners from the middle western states. The western prison is at San Quentin, Cal.

Recently, within the last two years, in fact, a number of features have been added at Atlanta which have attracted widespread attention among the advocates of prison reforms. A baseball league was organized among the prisoners, with games every Saturday afternoon, which is always a holiday. A prison paper was established and published monthly under the name of Good Words. Already there was a prison orchestra, and the custom was inaugurated of furnishing music during meal time; also the ban of silence was removed during the hours allotted to the prisoners for play. Of all these things the public heard until the impression grew that the Atlanta penitentiary was an ideal place of its kind. Then came the accusation of Hawthorne and Morton with unexpected suddenness. The prominence of the two men gave something of verisimilitude to their story that would not have been attached to the revelations of an ordinary convict. They had admitted that they had never been ill treated and added that they were speaking out of no spirit of revenge.

Hawthorne and Morton talked particularly of insufficient and poorly prepared food, charging that men actually were deprived of necessary sustenance in order that a good financial statement might be made. Hawthorne talked dramatically of the "hole" in which recalcitrant prisoners were confined.

Description of the "Hole."

As he drew the picture of this place of solitary confinement it was a hot, dark dungeon where men were strapped by their wrists and left for hours upon the slightest provocation. Hawthorne told of the case of an old, half-witted prisoner whom he called "Great Britain," the name by which he is generally known among the prison inmates. "Great Britain," he said, was constantly subjected to incarceration in the "hole," when because of his mental taint he was not responsible for his actions.

Hawthorne and Morton left Atlanta within two hours after their release from the penitentiary. Hardly had they left, however, when echoes of their denunciation were heard. From Representative Howard came the statement that he believed most of the charges against the prison and would see that an investigation was ordered. A former guard at the penitentiary declared that conditions were just as Hawthorne and Morton had described them.

On the other hand, there was defense of Warden Moyer. The warden himself immediately requested an investigation. Mrs. A. Springer, a prison worker, said Hawthorne was an "old grouch" and not to be taken seriously. J. P. Mathiessen, a well known Atlanta musician, for several years director of the prison orchestra, said he knew Warden Moyer's administration to be above reproach. A. C. Braun, for seventeen years a federal prisoner, came to the warden's support, branding the charges as false.

Prisoners Must Work.

To outward appearances the prison is this: Every prisoner has work to do, and most of the work is some form of manual labor. There is the stonecutter's shop, the tailor's shop, the laundry, the storeroom, the farm, the carpenter's shop, the bakery, in all of which there are prisoners at work. Behind the group of buildings, bordering on the recreation grounds, is a model camp for tuberculosis prisoners. Near by is a plant in which soap is manufactured from the waste products of the shops and kitchen.

Everything is operated on a basis of strict economy. A line of railroad tracks runs into the grounds, and a string of freight cars is always there. The plant at which electricity is generated for light and power is always running. The entire plant appears to visitors to be a well ordered enterprise.

"They are starving men in the name of economy," said Hawthorne, and Morton nodded his head in corroboration. "Prisoners are subjected to treatment that is nothing less than slow murder," said Dr. Morton, who is a practicing physician. "There is never enough to eat. The warden attempts to feed strong men on 9 cents a day, and when he succeeds he brags about it. There has never a man gone into that prison but who undergoes a steady deterioration—maybe slow, but always sure."

"You hear of the clean cells in which the prisoners sleep," said Hawthorne, "but you never hear of the 'hole,' do you? For the slightest fault, sometimes for breaking a plate, sometimes for a little more or less, a prisoner is sent to the 'hole,' a place under the main building for solitary confinement. There the heat is terrific at times and the stench is bad. There the prisoners are chained by their wrists and held thus with arms outstretched for hours. And sometimes confinement in the 'hole' is for days."

Apparently a Model.

"And the most miserable part of it all is that to outward appearances the prison is a model. There is always the clean grounds to exhibit and the baseball games to talk of, the music at meals and the outward semblance of good care and consideration. There is always a smoothness and graciousness to the public. You are never told of the 'hole.' Nobody ever sees that. Probably nobody knows of the solitary confinement cells and the uses to which they are put."

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who has made a tour of inspection of the prison since Hawthorne's revelations, has refused to make a statement. He states that he has as yet formed no opinion that he cares to make public on the sensational allegations made.

Lady Scott Was a Bore.

Lady Shelley, who, as appears from her diary, brought away from Abbotsford the impression that Sir Walter Scott's wife was "the greatest bore in Europe," was not alone in entertaining an unfavorable view of her hostess in the famous Tweedside house. In his "Journal" for May 2, 1837, Lord Cockburn, the Scotch judge, who loved and admired Scott, noted that he had finished reading the second volume of Lockhart's "Life of Scott," in which he declares that one of the most extraordinary revelations to the people of Edinburgh was "that there was a time when Lady Scott was pretty and agreeable."

MAKING OTHERS HAPPY.

Is there any happiness in the world like the happiness of a person who makes happy the happiness of others? There is no joy to be compared with it. The luxuries which wealth can buy, the rewards which ambition can obtain, the pleasures of art and scenery, the abounding sense of health and the exquisite enjoyment of mental creations are nothing to this pure and heavenly happiness, where self is drowned in the blessings of others.

Plan to Perpetuate the G. A. R.

The Central Pennsylvania Association of the Grand Army of the Republic has named a committee to embody in a formal resolution to be submitted to kindred organizations a suggestion that the Grand Army be perpetuated by the election of the eldest sons of veterans or their lineal descendants. This proposal was made by E. W. Jackson of Harrisburg, Pa., and was heartily endorsed.

CAESAR AS AN EPILEPTIC.

Glimpses of the Famous Conqueror That Are Not Inspiring.

Says Mark Antony, who had evidently seen the great Caesar in convulsions: "When the fit was on I marked how he did shake; 'tis true this god did shake." Again: "Ye gods, it doth amaze me a man of such a feeble temper should so get the start of the majestic world and bear the palm alone."

We would hardly recommend horseback riding to an epileptic, "but by dint of perseverance," says the historian Oplius, "Caesar became an expert horseman, often dictating to two or three secretaries at once while in the saddle, and rode without using his hands." We have had a somewhat similar experience in our own practice, where the patient, unlike Caesar, gave up epilepsy while continuing as a horse trainer.

When Caesar came to unbridge rivers during his campaigns he swam across them, sometimes helped by inflated bladders, but usually unaided. Once, having a seizure in the water, he cried out, you remember: "Help me, Cassius, or I perish."

He explored personally and afoot, conquered cities, accompanied by way of precaution by but one or two servants—an admirable precaution for epileptics when at all possible.

He needed to be careful. If he had lived in the gluttonous days of Caligula or Nero and had to any extent indulged in their dietary excesses, he never would have crossed the Rubicon nor effected the important victory over Pompey the Great at Pharsalia, and the protests of his nervous system in the way of convulsions would have been more numerous.

He paid the strictest attention to his hair, although he had so little of it. Like the rest of the baldheaded world over, he allowed this occipital fringe to grow long, and boldly combed it forward, like a vine over a blank wall, in the vain hope of concealing his cranial nakedness—the touch of nature that makes the whole bad world kin.—Dr. Matthew Woods in Neale's Monthly.

BOLL WEEVIL IS BEATEN.

President of the Southern Railway Tells of Planter's Success.

That farmers in the territory into which the Mexican boll weevil has spread, after having taken the advice of agents of the Southern railway, were able to produce cotton successfully, in spite of the weevil, has been demonstrated, according to President Finley of the railway company, who lately made a trip through the south.

"The practical demonstration of the possibility of controlling the weevil in the territory east of the Mississippi river," he said, "is one of more than incidental importance. It means that the cotton is still to be the leading crop in that territory. Special attention is being given to forage crops and to corn. Formerly southeastern farmers bought large quantities of western corn for their farm animals. Now there are many who have corn for sale. The cotton crop in the south-east, while not as large as in some years, is good and is being sold at an unusually good average price."

He declared that the general prosperity of the section is largely dependent upon agricultural conditions and that farming in the southeast is so distinctively progressive that there is every reason to look to the future with confidence.

LOSE TWO YEARS OF LIFE.

Noted Educators Condemn the Fads in Schools of Today.

Two years of useful life are lost to every American under existing educational conditions, due to the increased fads adopted by schools and made part of their compulsory curriculum. This is the finding of a body of eminent educators, headed by President James H. Baker of the University of Colorado, whose report has just been issued by the United States bureau of education in Washington.

"The great mistake in our education is to suppose," says the report, "that quantity and strain constitute education. Education is a question of doing a few essential things well and without overstrain. The college has committed a grievous mistake in demanding more in quantity than in quality produced under conditions of healthy normal development."

The educators, who, say the bureau officials, spent years investigating conditions, would have the elementary education of the young occupy only six years instead of eight. They would have the student pass through high school and college so as to be prepared either to enter the world at the age of twenty or, if desirous of taking up a profession, enable him to be equipped within two or four years later.

Bells of Aberdovey.

Aberdovey has been made famous by the "Bells of Aberdovey," and the townsfolk are hard put to it to explain how that song ever came to be written, for Aberdovey has no bells worth mentioning and until forty years since had not even a church. Some suggest that the old song was a metaphorical allusion to maidens' voices floating across the water. Another tale runs of a giant, perhaps Idris himself, who carried a huge bell in his hand and was wont to wade across the estuary at low tide. One day he was overwhelmed by a tidal wave and drowned, but his bell still sounds over the sands at certain hours and seasons.—London Chronicle.

Not a Bull at All.

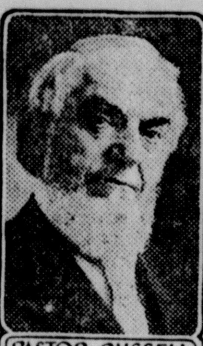

An English paper prints this joke under the title "A Laughable Bull." "An Irish doctor sent this bill to a lady: 'To curing your husband till he died, 25 guineas.'"

It sounds funny, but it isn't a bull. In justice to the Irish physician let us state that the original meaning of the word "cure" was "to treat, to nurse." It is still used in that sense in many communities. "With this herb," says Mandeville, "I cured them all till some were healed and some did die."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

RESCUED FROM THE CURSE OF GOD

God's Curse Not What We Supposed, Says Pastor Russell.

The Rescue Differs Also—The Curse We Imagined—The Curse Mentioned in the Bible—A Just Penalty—Not a Devilish One—It Could Not Be Worse—The Limit of God's Law. Jesus the Rescuer—The Preparation Is Ample—The Results Sure—As Foretold in the Bible.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 26.—We report one of Pastor Russell's sermons of today from the text, "There shall be no more curse."

—Revelation 22:3. The Pastor declared that we are emerging from a horrible delusion; that the shackles of superstition are breaking from our minds. Our forefathers, taught that the deities were to be damned, feared to think for themselves. Satan helped, not only to make our creeds, but to manacle us to them by direful threats. Well may we praise God for the dawning light of the New Day.

Freedom to think transcends all physical liberties, said the Pastor. "The liberty wherewith Christ makes free" is God's great boon to man. In proportion as it has been received there is joy; otherwise discontent, pain.

God's curse, according to the creeds, consigns all mankind to eternal torture, except as any should be so fortunate as to hear of the Savior and be favorably environed for sainthood. In irrational dread we questioned not the authority of those who made the creeds. It was asserted that the creeds were a condensed statement of Bible teaching, prepared by very holy and learned men; and that for any to attempt to understand the Bible without the aid of the especially ordained and apostolic bishops would be dangerous.

But education has become general. Contradiction amongst the apostolic bishops has demonstrated that they are fallible—that none of them were inspired, as were the twelve "Apostles of the Lamb."

Back to the Bible.

The Pastor asserted that Satan, perceiving the tendency to return to the Bible, has invaded our institutions of learning. Having captured nearly all the professors, he has poisoned their minds with Higher Criticism and Evolution. By this master stroke he has accomplished in these last thirty years ten thousand times more than Voltaire and Inglesoll ever hoped.

Nevertheless, the Divine arrangement will not be frustrated, although worldly wisdom has captured the worldly-wise, as foretold. (Isaiah 29:14.) Liberty of mind has brought opportunity for Scripture study without creed spectacles. And light from God's Word is going forth to the ends of the earth as never before.

The Curse of God.

The Pastor then demonstrated from the Scriptures that God's curse is not eternal torture, from which only a handful would be rescued by the Savior; but that "the wages of sin is death." Capital punishment with the Almighty is precisely what it is with His most intelligent creatures.

Under the heavy curse of death our race has gone down for six thousand years. Our mental, moral and physical powers have grown weaker until now the average length of life is only thirty-six years; whereas Adam lived nine hundred and thirty years. All of life's experiences demonstrate that the curse is severe, although just.

If fallen, imperfect men realize that cruelty is unjust and improper, and that death should be the capital punishment of crime, can our great Creator be less merciful? To punish creatures deprived from birth with everlasting torture, because they had not mastered their inborn evil tendencies, would be a worse crime than theirs. To any judicial mind it must be evident that God could not justly punish His creatures with any severer punishment than annihilation.

The Pastor asserted that his text contradicts eternal torment theories, and mentioned a similar contradiction in Hosea 13:14, where the Lord declares that Sheol shall be destroyed.

The Context Wesley's Favorite.

Pastor Russell then contrasted the teachings of Wesley and Calvin. Wesley's loving heart rebelled against the thought that the non-elect should have been predestined to eternal torment. He felt it an aspersion against the Divine character.

The blessed declaration, "Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely," appealed strongly to Wesley. He trusted that the time would come when the Church would conquer the world with the Gospel Message, when our context would be fulfilled.

We perceive now that both Calvin and Wesley were right. Only the Elect are to be saved during this Gospel Age, but eventually Free Grace will prevail. The connecting links are furnished in the Scripture telling us that before Messiah's Kingdom can be established, the Church must be glorified. The Election of the Church ended, Free Grace will begin.

OLD INDIAN TOWNS FOUND.

Are More Wonderful Than Villages of Ancient Cliff Dwellers.

Remains of cities of a prehistoric people, far beyond what was deemed the furthest eastern limit of the town building Indians, have been reported by Father Julius Hartman of the Catholic parish at Willard, Torrance county, N. M., to the School of American Archaeology at Santa Fe. Father Hartman was compelled to give up his explorations by the severe weather until next spring, but made a survey of sixty miles of ruins and rock inscriptions, extending from the present Mexican village of Pinoswells, Torrance county, to the Canyon Pintada, in a region that is desolate and uninhabited and touched only at long intervals by sheep herders.

The ruins of the village and communal dwellings antedate the Spanish conquest of over 300 years ago, and, judging from the debris that covers the sites and hides the ruins, the cities are a thousand or more years old. The two villages nearest to Pinoswells are located on a high mound, and the communal buildings are circular in form. From the burial place Father Hartman took skeletons, funeral urns, pottery, stone implements and weapons and other relics characteristic of the prehistoric town builders of the Rio Grande valley. The photographs on the granite walls, however, are apparently more connected and more vigorous than those found in the famous cliff dwellings west of Santa Fe. They depict scenes of the hunt and are interspersed with symbolic figures, such as the plumed serpent, the thunder clouds and forked lightning.

WAR DEPARTMENT PLANS FOR EMERGENCY DEPOTS.

Series of Storage Quarters Will Permit Expedition in Shipment.

General plans have been made at the war department in Washington for the establishment of a series of emergency storage depots at various places throughout the United States for the accumulation of medical and subsistence supplies, clothing and other equipment, arms and ammunition. Each year such sum as the army appropriations permitted has been set aside with a view to acquiring this reserve stock. There is now a considerable accumulation. It is desired to have on hand such articles of equipment as would not be readily obtainable in open market in time of war.

The depots which have been established are under the chief of ordnance, the surgeon general and the chief of the quartermaster corps. They are situated in the leading cities possessing ample facilities for transportation, so that the material may be shipped without delay to any point of concentration, either within the United States, where troops are being mobilized, or to a seaport where the troops are being embarked for transportation over seas.

The whole arrangement has been coordinated recently by experts of the army war college and forms one of the important features of the departmental preparations for war.

It is stated that the movement has no direct application to existing conditions.

It is held that there must be an initial resource to keep an army supplied until regular sources of supply can be arranged. In some cases, as with food-stuffs, there will be no difficulty in acquiring all that is needed in the open market. Subsistence is limited in the purchase of emergency supplies. Certain of the medical supplies and much of the clothing, however, must be acquired in advance to as great an extent as possible. Special difficulty naturally attaches to the acquisition of arms and ammunition in an emergency.

The secretary of war desires to increase some of these supplies as far as possible, notably field artillery material, for which the estimate amounts to $6,000,000. The increased estimate for quartermasters' supplies will amount to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

HAWTHORNE'S TALE OF PRISON HORRORS IS TO BE PROBED

Charges Against Atlanta Penal Institution Were Big Surprise.

Had Been Regarded as a Model Under Warden W. H. Moyer.

WHEN Julian Hawthorne, son of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and his companion, Dr. W. P. Morton, coming out of the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., on parole, said that the prison was a "living hell" and a place of slow murder and told why they thought so they precipitated a debate that is likely not to end until all officials and employees of the prison as well as many prisoners of high and low degree are subjected to questioning.

An investigation is to be held. Warden W. H. Moyer, the object of Hawthorne's most earnest denunciation, has requested it.

The charges come as a complete surprise generally, and particularly in Atlanta, where the federal prison has always been regarded as a model. The Atlanta penitentiary, while smaller than the prison at Leavenworth, Kan., was believed to be more efficient and when a new warden was named to take over the Leavenworth penitentiary several months ago he was commissioned to come to Atlanta to study the details of Warden Moyer's establishment with a view to installing some of the features obtaining there at Leavenworth.

For Eastern Prisoners.

The Atlanta penitentiary is the place to which are sent all persons convicted in the United States courts in the eastern states. Fort Leavenworth is the destination of prisoners from the middle western states. The western prison is at San Quentin, Cal.

Recently, within the last two years, in fact, a number of features have been added at Atlanta which have attracted widespread attention among the advocates of prison reforms. A baseball league was organized among the prisoners, with games every Saturday afternoon, which is always a holiday. A prison paper was established and published monthly under the name of Good Words. Already there was a prison orchestra, and the custom was inaugurated of furnishing music during meal time; also the ban of silence was removed during the hours allotted to the prisoners for play. All of these things the public heard until the impression grew that the Atlanta penitentiary was an ideal place of its kind. Then came the accusation of Hawthorne and Morton with unexpected suddenness. The prominence of the two men gave something of verisimilitude to their story that would not have been attached to the revelations of an ordinary convict. They had admitted that they had never been ill treated and added that they were speaking out of no spirit of revenge.

Hawthorne and Morton talked particularly of insufficient and poorly prepared food, charging that men actually were deprived of necessary sustenance in order that a good financial statement might be made. Hawthorne talked dramatically of the "hole" in which recalcitrant prisoners were confined.

Description of the "Hole."

As he drew the picture of this place of solitary confinement it was a hot, dark dungeon where men were strapped by their wrists and left for hours upon the slightest provocation. Hawthorne told of the case of an old, half-witted prisoner whom he called "Great Britain," the name by which he is generally known among the prison inmates. "Great Britain," he said, was constantly subjected to incarceration in the "hole," when because of his mental faint he was not responsible for his actions.

Hawthorne and Morton left Atlanta within two hours after their release from the penitentiary. Hardly had Fearless Chileans.

The Chilean is a combination of four fighting races—first, the Spaniard, then the Araucanian Indian, the only Indian that always defeated the white man and never was conquered himself; then the German, then the Englishman. That's the Chilean. You beat that for a good fighting man, and you've got to be going some. The Chilean isn't afraid of England; isn't afraid of the United States; isn't afraid of Argentina; isn't afraid of anything. Moreover, he lives in the south temperate zone almost entirely the same climate as the United States—rain and snow and six months of winter in the south.—Peter MacQueen in National Magazine.

Strength of Eggshells.

Most people are aware of the power of eggshells to resist external pressure on the ends, but not many would credit the results of tests recently made which appear to be genuine. Eight ordinary hens' eggs were submitted to pressure applied externally all over the surface of the shell, and the breaking pressures varied between 400 and 677 pounds per square inch. With the stresses applied internally to twelve eggs these gave way at pressures varying between thirty-two and sixty-five pounds per square inch. The pressure required to crush the eggs varied between twenty and seventy-five pounds. The average thickness of the shells was thirteen-thousandths of an inch.

Seemed Quite Natural.

"I understand burglars broke into your house while you were away the other night and ransacked the place." "Yes, and they emptied every drawer in the house." "What did your wife say when she saw the upheaval?" "Burglars never occurred to her. She just thought I'd been looking for my shirt studs."—Detroit Free Press.

CAESAR AS AN EPILEPTIC.

Glimpses of the Famous Conqueror That Are Not Inspiring.

Says Mark Antony, who had evidently seen the great Caesar in convulsions: "When the fit was on I marked how he did shake; 'tis true this god did shake." Again: "Ye gods, it doth amaze me a man of such a feeble temper should so get the start of the majestic world and bear the palm alone."

We would hardly recommend horseback riding to an epileptic, "but by dint of perseverance," says the historian Oppian, "Caesar became an expert horseman, often dictating to two or three secretaries at once while in the saddle, and rode without using his hands." Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 25.—We report one of Pastor Russell's sermons of today from the text, "There shall be no more curse."—Revelation 22:3.
